Move's Afoot For New Ohio Jobless Bill

Compensation Fund Showing Signs Of The Danger Point

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican-sponsored jobless pay bill vetoed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is a dead issue, GOP sources indicate frankly. But a move is afoot to reach agreement on a new bill.

Some new approach to the unemployment compensation law is needed, both Republicans and Democrats agree, because the amount of money in the one-ounce compensation fund shows signs of dropping to the danger point.

The reading of DiSalle's veto message in the House Tuesday—without House action, either way, to act on the message—brought some sharp comments from both sides.

Rep. William W. Milligan, R-Shelby, chairman of the House committee which originally drafted the bill, recalled DiSalle's use of Shylock's words in his veto message regarding the almost proverbial "pound of flesh." Quoting from the same Shakespearean play, "The Merchant of Venice," Milligan cracked back, "The Devil can cite Scripture for his purpose."

Retorted DiSalle: "If they (the Republicans) don't even make an attempt to override the veto, I'll never let them hear the end of it. I will be forced to conclude that they don't have faith in their own bill, that they actually didn't want it, that they were actually courting a veto."

DiSalle, along with other Democrats and organized labor, opposed the Republican-drafted unemployment compensation bill on grounds that, under the guise of giving the long-time unemployed extended benefits, other provisions made it harder for the jobless to collect state payments.

"The governor's message," said Milligan, "betrays his preoccupation with the failure of his (benefit) extension effort in November" during a special legislative session. He added the situation appears to be one of reverse logrolling: "You wouldn't vote for my bill, so I'll veto yours."

Milligan openly invited Democratic legislative leaders and the governor to sit down with the Republicans to determine the jobless pay issues on which both parties can agree.

"I don't think there's any question," Milligan asserted, "that the fund is going to run out of money if we keep on at this rate. Here's a startling statistic: By April 15, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation will have paid out in benefits more money than it expects to collect in the entire year from employer premiums."

One of the main objections of labor and the Democrats to the Republican bill was on a provision which would "trigger" extended jobless benefits beyond the regular 26 weeks. The trigger provided extended benefits at any time the number of jobless exceeded 6 per cent of the covered workers, statewide, for three straight months.

Soviet Aide Lingers, New Move Hinted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's delay in leaving for the Warsaw Pact meeting has aroused speculation that some important Soviet move is about to be made at the United Nations or in Washington.

Gromyko had been scheduled to leave Sunday for the Communist bloc meeting that opened Tuesday in Moscow, but Soviet sources indicated today he will remain here at least until Friday.

Many diplomats, including some close to the Soviet delegation, believed Gromyko was staying on to relay an expected answer to President Kennedy on Western proposals to halt the fighting in Laos. Gromyko conferred with Kennedy Monday on the Laotian crisis but refused to tell newsmen whether his government would agree to an immediate cease-fire.

There also was speculation that Gromyko's staying on meant agreement was imminent on a formula for reopening East-West disarmament talks.

Some sources also suggested that Soviet uneasiness over growing friendliness between the United States and the new African nations might have prompted the Kremlin to keep Gromyko on the scene.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson met with African delegation leaders Tuesday and assured them of substantial U.S. support and technical help for a broad aid plan, provided the African nations take the initiative in mapping out the program.

The Soviet Union which has been wooing the African group for the past few years, was expected to make some move soon to try to counter the U.S. aid offer.

Over 100 Arrested In Florida

Scores Of Students Fined Or Jailed In New Rioting

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Scores of unkempt and scantily clad college students were sentenced to jail or fined today following efforts of police to prevent further rioting of the holiday season in this embattled resort town.

More than 100 youths were arrested Tuesday night as police moved to clear out the Fort Lauderdale beach area.

Two judges operating at top speed gave 46 students a choice of either three days in jail or a $35 fine. More were lined up awaiting court appearances.

Some 25,000 students, in Fort Lauderdale for spring vacations, rioted after police imposed a

Weirton Man Says Pinballs Buckled Floor

Warehouse Owner Asks $10,000 For Damage To Building

The owner of a building in Weirton in which 327 pinball machines were seized last week by authorities has filed a $10,000 damage suit in Hancock County Circuit Court against a Pennsylvania coin machine company, its agent, and the lessee of the structure.

The gaming machines, kept under lock and key in a storeroom on Weirton Heights, were impounded in a raid last week by Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny and West Virginia State Police.

County Assessor Anthony (Tony) Leon said that personal property tax assessments will be imposed against the owners of the pinball machines. Eight slot machines also were found.

The pinballs are valued at $45,000 and will be assessed at 50 per cent — $23,000 — at the rate of $3.24 per hundred dollars. Thus, Hancock County stands to gain $746 in assessments.

In his suit filed in Circuit Court, John Nicholas of Weirton claims the weight of the 327 pinball machines, mostly old machines and parts for others, caused the floor of his building to buckle and sag. Nicholas also contends that a window had been left open in the building, allowing the elements to further damage the interior.

The suit was filed against John Augustine of Weirton, the City Coin Service Co. of Bridgeville, Pa., and Henry Jasek of Weirton. Augustine is the agent of the company, and Jasek is the lessee of the building.

Authorities still have not learned who owns the gaming devices stored in the building under lock and key. The assessor will bill the City Coin Machine Co. for the personal property assessments on the pinball machines.

No arrests have been made because authorities still have not established just who owns the slot machines.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is continuing its check as to whether federal laws were violated in regard to transporting the slot machines from another state.

$3.2 Billion Housing Bill Is Proposed

President Submits 25-Year Home Loan Plan To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proposed government insurance of 25-year home improvement loans as a new way of rebuilding rundown neighborhoods without federal handouts.

This was the surprise item in a $3.2-billion housing bill which Kennedy sent to Congress.

Also called for were step-ups in low-cost public housing, urban renewal and housing for the elderly, plus experimental 40-year, non-downpayment FHA mortgages for families of moderate income.

Most of the items were spelled out in Kennedy's special housing message to Congress on March 9. However, only a vague hint was given them of the far-reaching character of the improvement loan proposal.

The 25-year loan would carry a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent and could total up to $10,000 per family living unit. Present improvement loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration run for only five years, carry a rate of 9.4 per cent and are subject to $3,500 ceiling.

Improvement funds could be advanced in the form of first or second mortgages or other types of loans and would be available in all sections, although basic terms would be the same everywhere.

Officials are hopeful that if Congress approves, the program will become the major weapon in attacking urban blight, without federal subsidy.

Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, in a memo to Kennedy, said: "We sorely lack today the financing devices that are needed to support and encourage the upgrading of good homes and neighborhoods to preserve our cities and protect the living standards of our people."

Weaver said the entire housing bill emphasizes "the improvement of our existing housing supply instead of relying primarily on new housing construction for better homes, as we have been doing."

Kennedy's special message put no price tag on the total housing program. Weaver said the bill calls for new spending authority of $3.19 billion. Of that amount, $1.05 billion would be spent by June 30, 1965, and $311 million in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1.

All these outlays would be in addition to those already authorized. The amount previously authorized for fiscal 1962 is $728 million.

The biggest new item would be $2.5 billion in authority to commit federal funds for urban renewal projects. The commitments would extend over four years but actual spending would continue for 10 years or longer.

Weaver said this would "make it possible for our cities and urban areas to plan and develop their growth over a reasonably long period, instead of a year-to-year basis."

Congress never has authorized urban renewal commitments for more than two years in advance. The proposed 40-year loans for

Titan Missile Fired On 5,000-Mile Flight

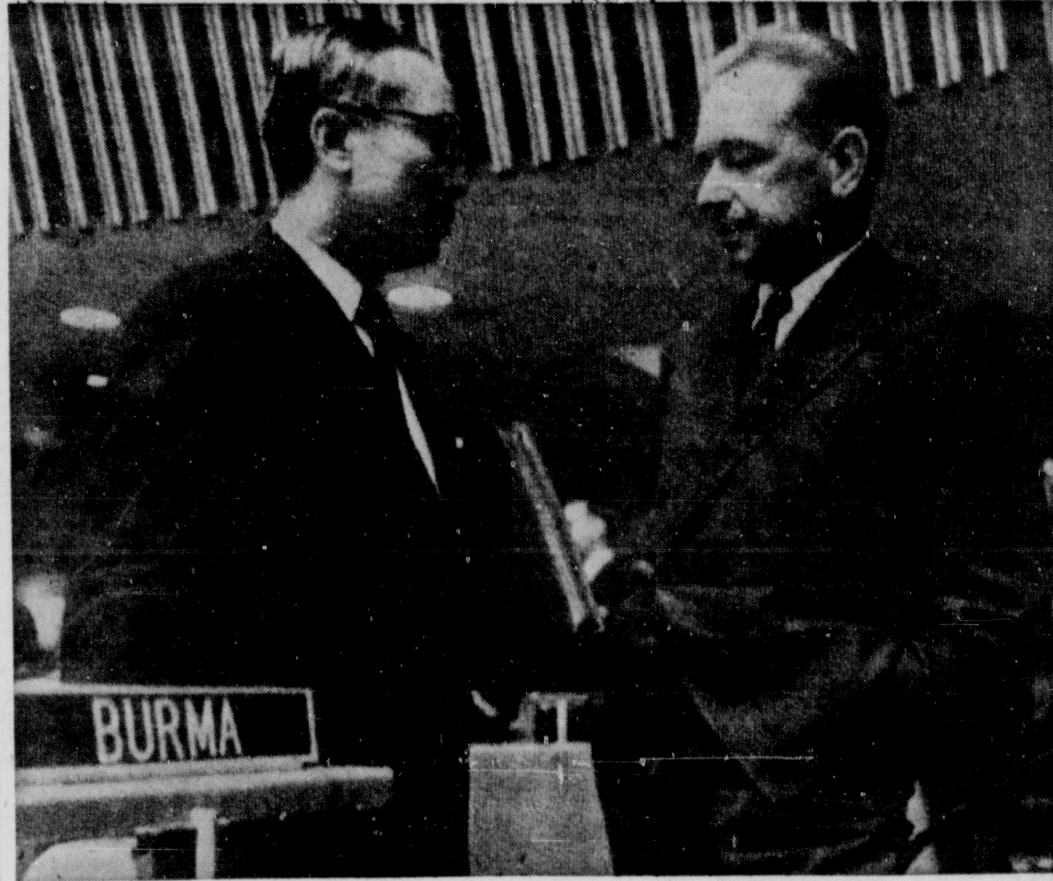

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A successful 5,000-mile test flight of an operational prototype of the Titan missile has moved the big intercontinental-range weapon a step closer to combat-readiness.

The 98-foot bullet-shaped rocket struck a target in the Atlantic Tuesday night after a 30-minute, 17,000-mile-an-hour flight. The Air Force reported all test objectives were met.

Earlier in the day, a Mace-B guided missile lost power a few seconds after launch, crashed and exploded on an isolated tip of the Cape. The swept-wing rocket was taking off on the start of an 800-mile test.

Board To Ask Midland Bond Issue Sanction

Debts Cited In Plan For $120,000 Fund If Court Approves

The Midland Board of Education held a special meeting Tuesday evening and adopted a resolution to petition court for permission for a $120,000 bond issue to meet obligations, including current operating expenses.

The resolution, read by Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, said the district has an outstanding unfunded debt of $120,000 which, in the opinion of the board, the district cannot meet within the fiscal year without an unreasonable curtailment of municipal services or the levy of an excessive tax.

The board will petition the Beaver County of Quarter Sessions.

James Morrison, president, reminded board members of the reasons for the need of the additional money. He said there were several unanticipated costs for the district, including state-ordered repairs to the 4th St. elementary school amounting to about $33,000 to eliminate fire hazards.

He said the bond issue for the new gymnasium and administration building was $550,000 and $63,000 in improvements, not included in plans, were needed.

He said unanticipated improvements were necessary at the library and in the high school where the heating plant was repaired at a cost of about $3,000.

There were state-ordered wage increases for teachers and improvements in the district's education system. The resolution was adopted after motions by Maurice Newman, finance chairman, and John Shovlin.

The board also approved a motion by Shovlin and Leslie B. Roach, authorizing Morrison and Miss Coffin to borrow a $50,000 emergency loan. Morrison said the money may or may not be needed, depending on whether the tuition money owed the district is paid. The board has in the past asked loans when tuition payments have been late.

The $50,000 will be paid out of the $120,000 bond issue making the emergency loan of short term, discussion indicated.

The district still is expected to raise its tax millage on property. For several years now, the district has been in the "red."

Murder Term Given

BEAVER—Beaver County Court Judge Robert McCreary today sentenced Jobie Lee Lewis, 27, of Aliquippa, to 7½-20 years in Western Penitentiary for the murder of Robert Sligh, 23, of Aliquippa last May 23 with a baseball bat. Lewis was convicted of second degree murder.

Bricklayers' New Dispute Stalls Project

About 35 area members of Bricklayers Local 11 of Weirton still were idle today, after settling one dispute over working rules, then encountering another with the Koppers Construction Co. of Pittsburgh.

The men are employed on a $3.5-million construction project at the Wheeling Steel Co. plant in Follansbee. The work stoppage will be a week old Thursday.

A Koppers foreman, in disagreement with the local's interpretation of working regulations, fired Local 11 workers Thursday. The dispute stemmed from a union work rule that all coke oven walls over 18 inches thick must be tended by two bricklayers.

Local 11 and Koppers settled the work rule dispute but the men have not returned to their jobs because the Pittsburgh firm reportedly wants the union steward fired before work may continue.

Bricklayers from East Liverpool, Newell, Chester, New Cumberland and Weirton are members of Local 11 of Weirton. The project is construction of a battery of 51 coke ovens. Work is scheduled to be completed by September.

The union apparently will not return to work unless the steward, a Chester area man, is retained. Other area bricklayers also face a contract expiration date with the Ohio Valley Builders Exchange.

Contract talks were reported deadlocked and it is expected that state mediators will move in an attempt to reach a settlement before the contract expires Saturday midnight.

The contract talks involve some 26 building trades unions dealing with the OVBE.

5 Communities To Hold Union Services On Friday

Christ's last days on earth and His promise of everlasting life through His Resurrection will be depicted in pageantry, song, communion and other religious services in dozens of East Liverpool churches for the remainder of Holy Week, which began with Palm Sunday services.

Five Good Friday union services will be sponsored by area ministerial groups and the theme will be "The Seven Last Words from the Cross."

Eight pastors will participate in the downtown program at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church from noon to 3 p. m. The Rev. Marc Anton Nocerino is host pastor. East End's three-hour service will be held at the Grace United

50 Are Called As Venire For Grand Jurors

Panel To Be Seated Tuesday For New County Court Term

A venire of 50 persons has been summoned for Grand Jury selection at 9 a. m. Tuesday in Common Pleas Court before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for the April term.

The new term of court will officially open Monday noon with a Bar Association dinner at the First Presbyterian Church at Lisbon, followed by a business meeting in Courtroom No. 1.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said the 15 jurors selected will investigate at least 16 cases now on file. There are four non-support cases, six burglary, one auto theft, one embezzlement and one fraudulent check case. Three secret indictments will be sought.

Prospective jurors include: East Liverpool — Edith McBride, R. D. 1, Ethel Fryman, M.C. Route 21, Gladys Debolt, 225 W. 4th St., Mary G. French Fight Any 'Tough' Policy Now

Council Pledges To Take Action Should Present Move Fail

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Apparently swayed by anticipations of Soviet peace moves, the SEATO foreign ministers today adopted a compromise resolution that failed to spell out what the alliance will do if the Communists continue their military drive in Laos.

The eight-nation council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization unanimously declared that if the British proposal for a cease-fire and peace negotiations fails "and there continues to be an active (Communist) military attempt to obtain control of Laos, members of SEATO are prepared, within the terms of the treaty, to take whatever action may be appropriate in the circumstances."

The resolution appeared to represent a defeat for the American effort to put over a tough declaration that would warn the Soviet Union that SEATO troops would fight if peace negotiations fail.

The compromise apparently resulted from the sharp opposition of French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, who argued in the closed sessions that the proposed American draft would antagonize the Soviets while there was a prospect they would accept the Western proposals for a cease-fire in Laos.

Couve de Murville told newsmen he was "very pleased" with the resolution.

Although a U.S. spokesman said "we consider it a strong resolution," U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a subsequent news conference did nothing to dispel the prevalent belief that the American delegation was disappointed.

Rusk said that Southeast Asia is threatened and "we shall meet these threats." He said "the resolution is unanimous and this means all members." But he refused to answer all questions about the possibility or likelihood of SEATO military action in Laos, saying, "I don't think it is wise or prudent to get into questions like those at this stage."

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand told his news conference that SEATO is waiting for the Soviet reply to the cease-fire proposal and that no action of any sort will be considered until the reply is received and studied.

Snarling Dog, Tear Gas Halt Dixie Parade

By The Associated Press
 A snarling police dog and a tear gas bomb stopped Negro students from parading in support of arrested sit-in demonstrators at Jackson, Miss.

"Police state tactics" were charged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in protesting the use of city policemen to surround the Jackson State College Tuesday.

The developments followed Mississippi's first sit-in, when nine students from another Negro college were jailed for demanding service at the white city library. Several Negro students were clubbed by policemen, the NAACP charged.

A Mississippi legislator, Rep. Philip D. Brant, blamed the sit-in on the segregation-minded State Sovereignty Commission, which he said sends speakers North to "tell their audiences glowing tales of racial harmony. The best way to handle segregation is to keep our mouths shut."

In Washington, Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall said he meant business when he told the Washington Redskins' football team to hire players without regard to race. The next move, he said, is up to owner George Preston Marshall.

Lines To Capitol Hot

Kennedy Keeping Phones Busy In Program Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported keeping the telephone lines to the Capitol hot in a day-by-day attempt to drum up support in Congress for his New Frontier program.

Despite his deep involvement in such international crises as that in Laos, influential members of Congress have found that Kennedy is keeping close tabs on legislation as it moves through committees.

A case in point was the President's call Tuesday to Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., while the Senate Finance Committee was considering the administration's bill to extend the Sugar Act which expires Friday.

Kerr had been backing in committee an amendment by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to give sugar beet growers in Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas about one-third of the 3.3-million-ton allotment taken away from Cuba.

As the bill stood, most of Cuba's allotment would go to Peru and Mexico in the Latin American area where Kennedy is courting better relations, with the remainder going to the Philippines.

After the call, Kerr voted for the amendment which lost by a 11-5 count. He also joined with Anderson in the only two votes cast against the measure itself.

As the Kennedy operation unfolds, the President is taking over efforts to persuade his former colleagues to go along with his program.

Although he is ready with advice and counsel when senators ask for it, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has refrained in most cases from attempts to whip up administration support. Senators learn directly from the White House, not through Johnson, what Kennedy wants.

Kennedy also is credited with approving in advance individual maneuvers by which the administration has narrowed its proposals somewhat in an attempt to consolidate support for more controversial items.

In this connection, Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., came up Tuesday with some revisions in the minimum wage bill which was passed by the House in a form not at all acceptable to the President.

McNamara's new proposals would take the minimum wage up to $1.25 in two steps, instead of the three proposed in the original administration bill. He moved to narrow coverage by excluding 300,000 of the 4.3 million new workers that would have been brought under its provisions.

The latter move seemed designed to satisfy Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., on the coverage issue. Instead of all stores of a chain being included, only those units which do more than $250,000 in annual business would be covered.

But this compromise failed to satisfy Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla. Monroney wants minimum coverage to include only companies with stores in more than one state. He is against any dollar volume criterion.

Since Monroney's amendment lost by 50-48 test on a similar bill last year when Kennedy was one of the senators opposing it, there are indications that the President may have some more missionary work ahead of him on this issue.

No Nike Zeus Funds

Kennedy Move May Slow U.S. Anti-Missile Defense

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's decision not to ask funds to start limited production of the Nike Zeus apparently means the United States will be without an anti-missile defense for at least five more years.

However, there's still a chance that congressional supporters of the Nike Zeus may get some production money into the defense appropriations bill this year.

The anti-missile has some strong roots on Capitol Hill. One of them, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said, "We have already lost too much valuable lead time over the Communists in development and production of this important weapons system."

Omission of any Nike Zeus production funds from the revised defense budget Kennedy sent to Congress Tuesday came as a shock to the Army. Some of its officials had hoped to get about $100 million to start turning out long lead items, mostly radar and computer parts.

Kennedy said nothing at all about the Nike Zeus, but a high administration official said the anti-missile system has not advanced to the point where it could be said with assurance that it should be put into production.

This was the position maintained by the Eisenhower administration and Dr. Herbert F. York, Pentagon director of research and engineering under that administration. Although York is being replaced, his views apparently carry weight with the Kennedy administration, too.

Army officials felt things were going their way when the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the first time, recommended this year a start on limited production.

Under the Eisenhower administration's farewell military budget — the one Kennedy revised — the Nike Zeus was down for about $250 million more to complete its test program. Since Kennedy didn't mention this item, Army officials are assuming it stands — and they take some comfort from this.

So far, since 1957, the Army has spent about $750 million on research and development of the Nike Zeus, the only U. S. anti-missile missile system beyond the drawing board stage.

Army officials estimate it would cost about $9 billion to install enough Nike Zeus launching complexes to protect key strategic bases and centers of industry and population.

Unless the Kennedy administration undergoes a change of heart, the Army will have to wait at least another year before any production money is included in the next regular budget — and there is no assurance it will be then.

Since the Army claims it could deploy some Nike Zeus batteries four years after a go-ahead on long lead production, this means a wait of at least five years — until 1966 at the earliest — before a defense against Soviet missiles would be in place.

moderate income families would represent a broadening of the present program available only to those displaced by urban renewal projects or other government action.

Kennedy would make such loans available, on an experimental basis, to all those who can't afford regular FHA mortgages but earn too much to be eligible for public housing.

The program initially would be authorized for two years expiring July 1, 1963.

The 40-year loan would carry the regular FHA maximum interest rate of 5½ per cent and would be available for housing on sale or rent. Mortgages would be subject to a ceiling ranging, on a single family house, from $9,000 to $15,000—depending on local building costs.

To entice private lenders into the program, FHA would have authority to pay off defaulted loans in cash.

Other items in the bill would provide:

Extension of the regular FHA mortgage insurance program until Oct. 1, 1965, considerably longer than Congress ever voted in the past.

Extension of the regular home improvement loan program for two years until Oct. 1, 1963.

100,000 additional public housing units.

Increase by $10 a month the federal contribution toward rent payments of elderly and disabled tenants in public housing projects.

Increase the spending authority under the present program of direct housing loans for the elderly from $50 million to $100 million.

Allow 30 per cent, instead of 20 per cent, of urban renewal grants to be used in areas which are not predominantly residential.

FHA-insured mortgages for units in cooperative apartments and for experimental housing using new materials, techniques or designs. Low-interest insured loans on rental and cooperative housing built by nonprofit organizations for low and moderate income families.

Increase funds for urban planning aid from $20 million to $100 million and increase the federal contribution toward the cost from one-half to two-thirds.

Authorize $200 million for public facility loans instead of the present $150 million. This program covers everything from sewers to city halls.

Meanwhile, Back At The Ranch . . .

All of us who have taken a whirl at family budgeting are sympathetic to the Kennedy administration's new point of view on budgeting.

At that, it's not really brand new. For years it has been our practice, too, to divide budgets between spending that is being kept under control and spending that cannot be kept under control.

It is like the good guys and the bad guys in TV westerns. The good guys wear the light-colored outfits and the bad ones wear black. We little budgeters call the bad ones "Miscellaneous."

The catch in divided federal budgeting is that the cost of the spending we have no cause to fret about and the spending that's threatening to run us into the ground comes out of the same citizens. It is no comfort to remember as we sweat out the highest taxes ever borne by any modern society that some of the money is being spent on civilian purposes and the rest of it is being spent on military purposes, over which the federal spenders have no control.

Nevertheless, if this is to be the Kennedy administration's pattern of thinking about budgeting, it will have to be taken in stride and comprehended for what it is worth.

THE PROSPECT is for deficits — at least $2 billion in what is left of this year, which ends next June 30, and at least $3 billion for the 12 months after that.

Deficits of this size will make it necessary to increase the federal debt limit of $285 billion, which Congress seems able to do with no more trouble than a congressman changes his mind about what he said in a public address that backfired. That will mean more interest on debt and, of course, a shorter run for each tax dollar.

Meanwhile, if anything happens to the international situation to trigger off still more military spending the budget calculations won't be worth the adding machines they were made on.

Students And Their Companions

There is no reason to doubt that Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., has become an Easter vacation mecca for students. Bona fide students. They flock there each year. If they didn't spend so much money, the community wouldn't put up with them. They are unruly, noisy, untidy and a pain in the community neck.

Students . . . When "students" went berserk last summer at the Newport Jazz Festival, careful reporters went to work on members of the "student body" who had ended up in jail to and learned that many of the culprits weren't going to school and never had been to school. They were young men and women of student age who had moved in on a golden opportunity to run wild in a helpless community in the identity of students instead of in the identity of ordinary hoodlums.

Ft. Lauderdale's "students" may be students in fact, or some of them may be students in self-bestowed title only. Not that students as such are incapable of raising the roof; some of them are as unruly as their mothers and fathers used to be at the same age. But there's reason to be careful about blaming rowdiness on "students" who are in fact nothing but student-age rowdies.

The bitter anti-intellectualism of the American people never has been eliminated. It slumbers for the most part, but there are

The Once Over

Is President Kennedy's chair a fast rocker, medium rocker or a slow rocker? This is a big question concerning news that old-fashioned, underslung, straight-line, utility model.

A fast rocker is the excitable, nervous, impulsive, erratic type.

A slow rocker is generally hesitant, lazy and disinclined to endure exertion.

Medium rockers are safest, and JFK's is said to be of this species. But he is young and some people fear he might be the first man to get a rocking chair off ground and into orbit, with alarming consequences.

Politicians are studying the situation to determine if Mr. Kennedy has a chance of getting daring programs through from a rocking-chair base. He will have to spring into action swiftly in most cases. Can he spring effectively from that type of furniture?

Congress is watching closely for public reaction. If President in rocking chair makes a hit, senators and representatives will be joining rocking-chair set, with Sen. Morse a defiant holdout and Sen. Goldwater taking stand as a half-rocker, half-overstuffed, Morris chair type.

What will be effect on the young? Boyish President in a rocker may set a fad and put stylish kids in such chairs everywhere, although up to now they have regarded them as pieces of furniture associated largely with Whistler's Mother.

Grand Rapids is reported counting on sudden demand to bring back rocker.

This column's chair expert is not alarmed. He has studied Kennedy rocker and says it is a new-frontier model, ruggedly built, not over-upholstered and very suitable for use in frontier fights with Indians, Republicans and opposition editors. "It can be used both for sitting and for throwing," he says.

NEW YORK SUBWAYS are to put in bowling alleys. "Set 'em up in next alley!" will no longer be cry applying exclusively to subway passengers. We look for query "Does this train stop at a bowling alley?" Will new Broadway play "Big Fish, Little Fish" have a special matinee for Fulton Fish Market groups?

Adlai Stevenson, who, it was feared might

For example, the United States spent a cool billion dollars trying to avert in Indochina what it now will try to avert in Laos, which was manufactured out of Indochina after that first billion had failed to produce the desired effect.

It is an aid to comprehension to bear in mind that a billion dollars' worth of spending by the federal government means about $5.50 out of pocket for every one of 180 million Americans, which means about $50 out of pocket for the people who bear the brunt of the tax burden, taking out all the children, the impoverished, the nonearners, the dead-headers, the deductors and people who have found out how to beat the tax rap.

AN AIRPLANE program that gets under way and is sidetracked because someone changed his mind can cost a billion. Or aviation bases that are wiped out of usefulness because someone changed his mind. Or a weapons system that didn't work. Billions are tossed around in federal finances like millions in state finances, like thousands among the well-to-do and like $10 among the rest of us.

The $10 crowd is, nevertheless, a numerically important group and it is to us that the federal government must try to explain its budgeting. The Kennedy administration is doing this now. We are attentive.

The ones in the white outfits are the good guys, see — agriculture, law enforcement, education, dependent children, the executive offices, Congress and the Supreme Court. The guys in black are bad; no one knows what they will do next. But they are a necessary evil. There's nothing a budgeter can do about them, because they are all that stands between us and the Russians.

Meanwhile back at the ranch there is no tax relief in sight — ever. That's one thing you can bet on in an uncertain existence in a topsy-turvy world. The bad guys are here to stay.

Choose Wisely

During the banquet season, athletes are showered with advice, food and awards.

Tuesday night's East Liverpool High School basketball get-together followed the pattern. The food was excellent, the awards were many and the advice was sound.

Emphasis was placed on education — as it certainly should be; the value of a proper home life was stressed, and the importance of knowing how to lose as well as win was pointed out.

For what it's worth, we would like to add one more bit of advice to athletes and students in general: Choose your companions with the greatest of care. If you get in with a bad crowd, it generally rubs off. The right kind of companions are a definite asset, their opposites a liability.

New York junior high school will use automation to teach reading to pupils who reach there unable to read. If a kid can't read by time he reaches a high school, automation will clearly be the underdog in the battle.

Fifteen-year-old school girl who wrote secretary of labor asking for support for union she had formed to fight piano lessons, got a reply from Mr. Goldberg thanking her for decision to join organized labor and suggesting grievance machinery, etc. It was all in fun, but Mr. Goldberg had better be careful. Kids who hate piano lessons are legion, may take him seriously and throw up picket lines with "This Piano Teacher Unfair!" signs. Parents are close to exhaustion in rugged struggle to get moppets to practice and will now face Junior's defiant "Make me go near that piano and I'll notify Mr. Goldberg."

Anti-litter drive sweeping country is killing the traditional bag of peanuts and bringing the shelled type to outdoor sports. Peanut bag has disappeared from some big race tracks, including Aqueduct in New York. "It's in the bag" will now apply exclusively to goobers, not to ponies. It's depressing. Bag of peanuts has seemed a tradition at horse tracks, ball parks, circuses, etc. A true peanut addict shuns the shelled type. A horse player can be thrown off form by the unbagged "goobers."

Reuther Maps His Next Campaign

By Victor Riesel

No one really knows what the president of the United Auto Workers told the President of the United States in the White House the other day.

Henry Ford II, after all, was in hearing distance. And Walter Reuther would rather take Barry Goldwater in as a partner than tip his hand on this year's strategy for bargaining with the car industry.

So close to his vest is Reuther playing it this time that virtually no one on his own board has yet been informed of their leader's tactics.

It is believed, though, that Reuther will take his cue from John Kennedy and shy away from a fight for a shorter work week.

It is believed that Reuther will launch a tough fight to force the auto industry to consult with the union on certain policies which it has been management's right to make since they invented the wheel.

This is expected to be Reuther's most dramatic demand when the auto union chiefs begin bargaining with the Big Three automobile makers.

ONE OF THESE DEMANDS, insiders say, will be for the right to be consulted by the corporations before decisions are made on the shutting of plants, the opening of new ones, the shifting of types of work and the building or taking over of installations across the world.

Reuther's people will insist that without this positive "right" of consultation there can be no "job security" for the auto workers. They recognize this as a most daring move on ancient management prerogatives in the U.S.

They realize that this will mean a bitter fight if they persist. But they say they plan to persist.

I ran into this sentiment during my travels in upstate New York. There had been a district meeting of some one hundred regional auto union officials in Lockport, N.Y. It was one of three which had been held on March 10 through March 12. The others were run in Philadelphia, Pa., and Elizabeth, N.J.

At each conference, the secondary leadership was briefed on European precedents for such demands on management to discuss corporation policy with the union.

In Britain, it was pointed out, for example, the auto (motor) industry would not move any of its plants without first discussing it with the Trade Union Congress affiliate.

LAST YEAR the British motor industry announced that it wanted to expand into Scotland and the Liverpool area. This, I'm told by my British friends, is somewhat like moving the Ford River Rouge plant into South Carolina.

The British motor industry did expand—but only after consultation with the proper union negotiation unit. Reuther's people were told. They expect to use the British tradition to back up their arguments in Detroit.

Also at the three eastern briefings and analytical sessions, Reuther's second and third echelon officials were told of the Swedish system which controls plant movement. There is a Stockholm law which permits the corporations to put 40 per cent of their profit before taxes into a fund.

If they use this money to expend and build plants in areas where unemployment begins showing up, these firms do not have to pay taxes on these profits. The rules are set by something called the Labor Market Board—which also retrain workers and pays them while doing so.

THE AUTO UNION plans a fight for such a federal tax law and retraining system in the United States.

This theme of management's consultation with labor will be carried over into still another field—the investment of the multi-billion dollar auto industry pension funds.

At the moment the auto union contracts say that the corporation has the sole right "to execute a trust agreement with a trustee . . . selected by the corporation to manage and operate the pension fund and to receive, hold and disburse such . . . "

Any seasoned politician will tell you that the most important attribute of a successful politician is a sense of timing. In this President Kennedy has shown a slip in his undubitable political skill by launching his Peace Corps before his proposed Youth Conservation Corps.

The latter offers some sound grounds for its existence. The former has raised eyebrows all over the nation.

When the Peace Corps was established by executive order with a director who had plans and everything, there were those who wondered why, aside from a spirit of adventure and change, young people should volunteer to serve without pay in somewhat indeterminate missions to the benighted nations of the world.

There were others who wondered where on earth a smart young statesman like the President got the idea. Many commended the courage which induced him to put into effect a suggestion which he had rather casually mentioned in his campaign.

ONE NEWSPAPER made the comment that, no doubt, the idea was a modified version of a suggestion which the philosopher William James made back before the turn of the century.

In an essay entitled "The Moral Equivalent of War" James said that it would be a whole-some thing to organize an army, not to fight a foreign enemy but to assail nature by subjecting it to the will of men.

His army would be organized to subdue the wilds, to drain the swamps and to cut channels of traffic through wilderness and desert.

It was also suggested that President Roosevelt might have been thinking about the William James essay when he created by Executive Order in 1933 the famous Civilian Conservation Corps.

Since I was serving the President as a handy man in those hundred days and something had to be sent to Congress every noon, I was asked by him to prepare a statement about an idea he had to establish such an agency.

When he had elaborated it I asked him whether he had ever taken a course with William James in his Harvard days. He had not but he had known about him.

In 1933 there was a lot of sound sense in the President's idea. It was in substance to recruit and place under semi-military discipline a large number of young men and boys to work in clearing land, planting trees, building by-roads and other healthy, outdoor activities.

A practical individual, Robert

Fechner, was placed in charge and the CCC became one of the most practical of all New Deal innovations.

A great deal of useful work was done. But more important, it took the young men and boys off the streets and out of the army of unemployed and gave them modest pay for healthy, outdoor work.

There will be sharp and angry charges that labor is invading management's rights—the rights of private property. Nonetheless, the auto union leaders will meet in Detroit in a few days to prepare that "invasion."

THE PEACE CORPS of 1961 is an entirely different thing. The perils it faces lie in the lack of training which the young volunteers have for the crusade they are expected to carry on.

Anyone, who had read that true-to-life novel "The Ugly American," realizes that what is needed in undeveloped nations is the help of highly trained and practical people who can teach natives, some of the rudimentary mechanical operations which will improve their life and advance their civilization.

There is no use in sending them merely college trained people who, like most college graduates, have few if any skills and little knowledge of the languages spoken in undeveloped countries.

If, as is reported, a Youth Conservation Corps is to be established, it has a much more favorable chance of succeeding. It will need practical direction. It will have to be directed to work which will not conflict with the province of organized labor. And it will have to attack problems of conservation which need solution.

Perhaps it will have a role in character building. The Peace Corps has no such prospect.

Soviets Call The Plays

By David Lawrence

Communists Will Chalk Up Laos Victory

Peace in Laos is far off—and so is war. Despite all the outward display of firm diplomacy by the West the Soviet government will have its way in the end.

First there is to be a cease fire but it will come only after more conversations and propaganda interchanges. It will be hailed, of course, as a victory for the West. Then there will ensue a three-nation conference to work out a truce. Next will come a 14-nation conference to set up a neutral government in Laos. All this takes time—maybe months—but eventually the Communists will have obtained a substantial part of Laos, if not all of it. That's the defeat which lies ahead because the West will not unite to take decisive action to stop Communist penetration in Asia, Latin America and Africa.

The history of so-called neutral setups is that the Communists move in and take over from the inside. They resort to bribery, intimidation and actual incitement to riots and demonstrations.

The outward profession of interest in neutrality has resulted in Communist victories in several instances in the past — first in Poland, then in Czechoslovakia, next in China, as coalitions were formed of Communists and Nationalists. Then Indo China was carved up in 1954 by the same formula of a cease fire followed by a truce commission and the setting up of so-called independent states.

What did President Kennedy gain, therefore, by the dramatic announcement at his press conference last week, by the dispatch of Secretary of State Rusk to Bangkok for the meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and by the sudden conference with Prime Minister Macmillan?

There is no evidence that the Communists have been impressed by these moves. Moscow knew all along that the United States was bargaining for a cease fire and that the threats of military intervention meant little.

SPOKESMEN for the British government notified the world that it was not getting ready to send British troops into Asia. The United States, of course, had said that it would not act alone but only in co-operation with its allies.

Russia has known all along that it could halt any military moves of the West by agreeing at any moment to a cease fire.

With characteristic boldness when holding trump cards, the Kremlin decided first to get as many conditions as possible accepted before agreeing to a cease fire in the local fighting in Laos.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Andrei Gromyko, the big foreign relations man for the Russians, now understands and speaks English in public. It is my guess this smart cookie has understood it and could speak it for a long time but preferred to keep non-Russian speaking and understanding Americans and Englishmen at a distance.

Is there anything sadder than a motion picture beauty like Elizabeth Taylor being pushed in a wheel chair? In the image these photogenic glamor personalities create, there is no place for pain and frailty.

It tickles me that Washington kids do a brisk business hiring themselves out to adults who are admitted to the White House grounds for the annual Easter egg rolling only if accompanied by a child of 12 or under.

Nothing is trickier to interpret than the sensation of a freshly broken tooth, which always seems to be the size of an H-bomb crater yet proves to be, under dental inspection, a relatively inconsequential mishap.

The most entrancing thing about Spring is the way everything materializes gradually and is hardly noticeable, then unfolds and becomes noticeable in the space of one day during an April rain.

The New York Times asked its foreign correspondents to report on aid to education issues in other nations and learned they are universally troublesome. One thing else is learned: Wherever education is aided, the right to supervise goes with the money.

If someone had thought to save those Congress gaiters my grandpaw wore, they'd be back in style; the new shoes for men employ elastic inserts to hold them on the feet.

I don't know how Joe Louis feels about the campaign to pay Sgt. Alvin York's income tax, but I know how I felt about proposals to pay Joe's—distraught. Nobody ever has offered to pay my income tax, but of course I never made any big money to pay income taxes on, which makes a difference.

In my moments of doubt, I am unable to understand how the United Nations will recruit the

It's what comes after the truce that's really important. The Communist plan is to take over from within after the neutral status of Laos is supposedly established.

While a big war seems unlikely just because of Laos, sooner or later a showdown will be forced between the Communists and the free world. This is what happened in the 1930s after Munich.

The Soviets now have rendered the United Nations helpless in the Congo, as Moscow continues to send arms and supplies to so-called neutral states in Africa while refusing, of course, to pay any of the expenses of the U.N. for the whole Congo operation. Yet the West doesn't do anything about this default.

BRITISH OFFICIALS in London, moreover, are reported to be saying that it's too late now to save Laos, that the most the West can get from the Communists is another divided country, with northern Laos going to the Communists and southern Laos going to a so-called neutral regime.

What happens in a neutral country? From South Vietnam, for instance, which is next door to Laos, comes word that the military situation is almost as bad as it is in Laos. South Vietnam's army has been getting military help from the West but the area is infiltrated by 10,000 disciplined and highly trained men from Communist-controlled North Vietnam.

Almost half the 6,000 villages in South Vietnam have been taken over by Communist agents.

What is the answer? The United States and Britain and France, despite the talk of military intervention, reveal every day that they do not wish to take any such action because it might lead to a big war like the one in Korea.

The Communists are betting that the Western Allies are bluffing. So, as in the days of Hitler in the 1930s, the free world retreats step by step, hoping against hope that a dictator will be reasonable.

A CEASE FIRE seems likely now only because the Russians know it will lead to a neutralized Laos. This is exactly what they want but between now and the day the cease fire actually takes effect, Communist forces will gobble up some more territory in Laos.

President Kennedy is earnestly grappling with the whole complicated situation. But "brinkmanship" that isn't well coordinated or backed up by allies who will fight if necessary — but who appear to be unprepared to go to the brink of war or to take the consequences of their firm statements — will have little effect on Khrushchev. That's why this year he may chalk up another conquest in Asia.

policemen it must have someday to enforce its decisions. They will encounter resistance and will be abused and sometimes killed. What would make it worthwhile? Money? Idealism? For that matter, what makes it worthwhile for any policeman?

I am still waiting for a statistic that will confirm my guess that there is a wider margin of safety in compact cars than in gargantuan models because the small ones are easier to handle, which more than offsets their relative fragility if struck by an automotive bully.

This fellow who's always asking me to help him find obscure explanations wants to know why, if there are seven days a week and 52 weeks a year, which comes out at 364 days, a year consists of 365 days, plus a fraction left over and suggests this is the kind of thing people need to have straightened out for them more than Laos.

Odd Facts

In 1890 the streets of Medicine Hat, Alberta, were lighted with natural gas both day and night because it was cheaper to let the lights burn than pay someone to turn them on and off. Medicine Hat is built over a natural gas pool.

The flower trade began in Britain's Scilly Isles in 1881 when a consignment of blossoms was shipped to London in a woman's hat box. Soon the islands were sending 65 tons of flowers a year to the mainland.

Deaths and Funerals

Former Farm Operator Dies

T. Edward Abrams of New Waterford, a retired farmer, died this morning at 2:20 at Salem City Hospital, after an illness of four months. He was 71.

He was born in Beaver County, son of Thomas Abrams and Margaret Nichol Abrams.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna Deshler Abrams at home; a son, Carl T. Abrams of East Liverpool; a daughter, Mrs. Donald Lones of R. D. 2; a step-son, Charles Deshler, also of East Liverpool; three brothers, R. B. Abrams and Harry Abrams, both of Chester, and Walter Abrams of Lisbon R. D. 3, and eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the Locust Hill Cemetery in Chester.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday.

Robert Leatherberry

Robert G. Leatherberry, a retired stationary engineer of the Irondale Works of the former McLain Fire Brick Co., died this morning at 6:10 at the Osteopathic Hospital, where he had been a patient since Friday. He was 90.

Mr. Leatherberry resided with a son, George C. Leatherberry, 1615 Maple Ave., Wellsville, for the past several years. He was born near Wellsville Dec. 5, 1870, son of Alexander Leatherberry and Elizabeth Carson Leatherberry.

For 25 years he worked as a stationary engineer at the former Wellsville Works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. and retired in 1931. He then worked for the Irondale Works retiring in May 1942. He was a member of the First Christian Church.

He leaves another son, Charles E. Leatherberry of Wellsville; a daughter, Mrs. William H. Moore of Steubenville, and seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Cora Conn Leatherberry, died March 24, 1953, and a son, Ernest Leatherberry, March 15, 1956.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at MacLean Funeral Home by Robert E. Andrews, minister. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home at Wellsville Thursday night and Friday afternoon and evening.

Jerry Bozzo

EAST PALESTINE — Jerry Bozzo, 122 W. Main St., retired cafe operator, died Tuesday night at 6:15 at Salem City Hospital after an extended illness. He was 80.

Born in Italy Dec. 23, 1880, he was a son of Peter and Clara Bozzo, and had resided here over 50 years.

He had been a coal miner and formerly operated the Diamond Cafe.

He was married in 1914 to the former Frances Veltie.

He was a member of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church and the Italian Tripoli Society.

Besides his widow he is survived by a brother, Joseph Bozzo of Tarzana, Calif., and two sisters, Mrs. James Bruno of East Palestine and Mrs. Fred Cozza of New Waterford.

Services are being arranged at the Oliver Funeral Home.

James Mullen Quits City Post

James L. Mullen of Bradshaw Ave., international representative of the United Steelworkers, has resigned his post on the Board of Public Utilities because he plans to move to Ohio View and will not be qualified to continue to serve. Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced today.

Mullen was appointed to the board last July 1 by Mayor Goodballet. The mayor said he hopes to announce an appointment within a few days for the unexpired term, which runs until July 1, 1966.

The other members of the board, which administers the city water department, are W. O. Schneider, chairman and Francis J. Cloran. Terms are for six years. The posts are unsalaried.

"Due to pressing business reasons, I am moving from the city into the state of Pennsylvania and no longer will be eligible to serve," Mullen told the mayor in his letter of resignation. "I thank you for the honor bestowed upon me and the organization I represent by this appointment. One of my deepest regrets in moving from the city is that I will be unable to vote for you at the next election."

The utilities board was established in 1952 to take over the water department administration, which formerly was one of the duties of the safety-service director's office.

approval too, saying restriction of the students was stifling business.

City authorities—thankful for a breather in mob action—contemplated asking Gov. Farris Bryant to help turn back some of the Easter vacation student crowd still to arrive. Mayor Edward Johns said the City Commission may ask Bryant to have Florida State University and University of Florida officials urge their students to stay away from Fort Lauderdale when classes break Thursday.

A five-block outdoor dance, organized with city help, kept perhaps one-tenth of the 25,000 collegians here occupied Tuesday night.

Even so, police collared 150 for public drinking or disorderly behavior. They will have their day in two simultaneous sessions of municipal court, already clogged with cases from Sunday and Monday.

No crowd disorders occurred Tuesday night. Police kept everyone moving on the hotel and night club-studded beach strip and screened everyone traveling there from downtown.

The ocean-front area presented a strange sight of thousands of college boys and girls sauntering up and down the pavement, barred from the darkened beach itself and unable or unwilling to patronize the luxury resorts that line it.

Police used nightsticks and loud speakers to prod along any strollers who wouldn't move on.

Church

Miss Pat Swisher, Mrs. Donald Murray and Mrs. William Beatty will sing "Calvary."

Earliss D. Gleason is host minister.

The Newell community service will be held at the First Church of Christ, under the auspices of the pastors of the community, from noon to 3 p. m. Seven ministers including the Rev. Thomas Weills, host pastor will participate.

Churches holding individual Good Friday services include St. John's Evangelical Lutheran, Emmanuel Presbyterian, Glenmoor United Presbyterian, Boyce Methodist, the Orchard Grove Community Methodist, and the Pleasant Heights United Brethren in Christ Church, all of East Liverpool, and the Church of the Nazarene and the First Christian Church, both of Wellsville.

Maundy Thursday Communion services will be held in many churches of the area.

Catholic Churches of the area will celebrate Holy Thursday and Good Friday with Masses and Stations of the Cross.

All day and night "Adoration" will be conducted Thursday with members of various church organizations acting as watchers.

At St. Aloysius church, Solemn Masses will be said Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m.

Services at St. Ann church in East End will be held Thursday and Good Friday at 5 p. m.

The procession to the Altar of Reposition will be held Holy Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Sacred Heart church in Chester.

The Mass of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Wellsville Immaculate Conception church. The Mass of the Pre-Sanctified will be heard at 3 p. m., followed with Stations of the Cross at 7:30.

James N. Servey, pastor, will speak on the Seventh Word of the Cross for the Good Friday service of the Ohio View Lutheran Church at 8 p. m. F. R. Martell will direct the choir.

City Hall Offices

To Close Friday Noon

City Hall offices will close at noon Friday to permit staffs to attend Good Friday services if they wish. Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced today.

The building also will be closed

Saturday morning. Normally, the offices are open until noon on Saturday. However, the mayor said both he and Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver expect to be in their offices Saturday morning.

Although Good Friday is a religious holiday it is not a legal holiday and parking meters will continue to function as usual, the mayor reminded motorists.

Actress Hedy Lamarr Settled Injury Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Hedy Lamarr agreed Tuesday to a $3,500 settlement of a $100,000 injury suit after concluding, "I can't fight an insurance company."

Miss Lamarr brought the action on behalf of her son, John A. Loder, 14, injured Dec. 9, 1958, when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Frank J. Burnell.

The boy is Miss Lamarr's son by her marriage to John Loder.

Miss Lamarr, who said the boy's hearing has been impaired since the accident, charged Burnell with negligence.

NAACP Holds Kickoff Fete

About 150 attended the kickoff of the spring membership drive of the Midland branch of the NAACP Tuesday evening at the Church of the Living God.

Calvin D. Banks of Philadelphia, field secretary of the NAACP, was guest speaker.

The drive ends April 22 and the Midland branch has a goal of 250 members.

Prospective members may contact Bryan Perkins, membership chairman, or Mrs. Helen Vanlier, Ralph Pope, Mrs. Pearl Smith, Mrs. Reoma Samuels, Mrs. Lilly Jones, John Perkins, Mrs. Aaron Golding, Miss Dorothy Pope and Wilbur Short.

Miss Pope was program chairman and John Perkins Jr. was master of ceremonies. Will T. Leavell, president, presided and the Rev. Edward Watson, host pastor, gave the invocation.

Music was furnished by the Johnson Chorus of the First Baptist Church and there was a solo by John Perkins.

The Executive Board will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of Leavell. Regular meeting will be next Wednesday evening.

New Jobless Claims Show Drop In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation notes a slight drop in the number of new claims for benefits filed in Ohio last week.

The bureau said 25,812 new claims were filed in the week ended March 25 compared to 25,911 filed in the previous week. A slight drop was noted also in the number of continuing claims, which dropped from 220,511 to 220,000.

Jury To Resume Deliberations In Corbett's Trial

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—The jury in the Joseph Corbett Jr. murder trial resumes deliberations today after 10 hours of discussion failed to produce a verdict.

The jury is considering only two possible verdicts—acquittal or conviction of first-degree murder with a mandatory sentence of life in prison.

Corbett, 32, is accused of murdering Adolph Coors III Feb. 9, 1960 in an abortive kidnap attempt. The prosecution claimed he schemed for two years to abduct the wealthy head of the Adolph Coors Co. brewery and ransom him for a half-million dollars.

Corbett retired early in his cell in Jefferson County jail. Officers said he read a book after dinner and appeared little concerned.

A hold order from California authorities awaits the tall, slender defendant in the event he is acquitted here.

He escaped from a prison at Chino, Calif., in 1955, four years after he was convicted and sentenced to a 5-year to life term for the slaying of an Air Force sergeant.

Verdict Is Directed

LISBON — A directed verdict for the defendant was ordered Tuesday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in the jury trial of the $5,000 personal injury suit of Jack Coughlin of Columbiana against Amos Campbell, operator of a dry cleaning shop there. Defense counsel asked a directed verdict on grounds Coughlin had not been invited to the woodworking shop operated in the basement by his father-in-law, E. E. Billups. Coughlin claimed he fell on a slippery floor, injuring his ribs.

3 Charges To Be Made For Burglary Suspect

A 23-year-old Calcutta man, discovered in the L. & M. Hardware in Calcutta early Tuesday, will be accused of three charges with hearings set tentatively for Thursday in County Court at East Palestine.

Robert E. Beighey, currently on parole for auto larceny, is expected to be charged with theft of a car from the M. & A. Motors in East Liverpool, breaking and entering at the L. & M. Hardware and at the Hitt Builders on the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd.

Deputies said a wrecking bar taken from Hitt Builders was found in the hardware store and the car was parked in Calcutta Acres near Hitt's.

Beighey is on parole for an auto theft charge. He pleaded guilty in 1957 and received five years probation. He violated the terms and was sentenced to the reformatory in 1959.

AND SERVICE of the SHADOWS

On this Thursday night, when Christ instituted the LORD'S SUPPER all Christians are invited to share in this holy act. The Service of the Shadows, which follows Communion is a dramatic representation of the events which followed Christ's last supper. Lights in the Church are gradually extinguished until the Church is in darkness. This will be the last time this historic service is held in the present Church building.

The Nursery will be open for small children.

Trinity Presbyterians will want to be at this service. Others, not having services in their own churches, are invited.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Can Help Child With ABC's

If your child is in the first grade now, after several months in school, it might be well for you to find out if he can name each letter of the alphabet when he sees it. More especially should you do so if he is in the second grade. You don't have to be a college graduate to do this. Suppose you Dr. Garry Meyers discover that your child, who has been expected to read at school, even to spell, can't identify all the letters of the alphabet or some of them. What will you do?

You won't, I hope, express surprise to him or shame him for not knowing his ABC's. Nor will you criticize his teacher for not having had him learn them.

IN A CALM kind and skillful way, just help him to know them but not to learn them in order until he begins use of a dictionary. There are only 26 of these letters and he will use them all his life.

Perhaps he has already learned by heart the names of as many as 100 words, some of them no harder to remember than a single letter.

Although he might go on reading a little, by remembering words he has seen and named before, he won't, as a rule, get very far in reading without knowing by name the letters of the alphabet and some of their basic sounds.

Can anybody tell me how he is going to spell at all without knowing the letters in the words he is supposed to spell?

Indeed, if your child in the second or third grade is a very poor speller, you should find out right away if there is any letter of the alphabet he doesn't know by name.

OBVIOUSLY, if he already knows most of the letters, the rest should be easy for him to learn.

If you discover that your child doesn't know all the letters you will be inclined to help him learn all of them right away and have him practice on many of them at a sitting.

Instead, you should have him attack only one or two at a session, one at a time. As he sees and names each one, have him find this letter as often as he can on a printed page, saying its name each time he finds it.

If he confuses two letters like "b" and "d", don't have him practice on them together. Let him concentrate on either one till he completely masters it. Then the other will be easy to learn.

HAVE HIM practice on consonants first. Soon he will see that, with few exceptions, like "g" and "c", each consonant has just one sound he can easily hear as he says it.

Later, have him see groups of words together, preferably pictured words, all beginning with the same letter and sound, as boat, boy, bear, box.

In my special bulletin on "Home Fun With Phonics" I give many simple, useful suggestions you and your child can follow. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Nothing in the foregoing is likely to hamper your child in reading or spelling at school, no matter by what methods he is taught there. Instead, it should help him.

Newell Women's Club To Sponsor Girl As Delegate

Plans to sponsor a senior of Wells High School to West Virginia Rhododendron Girls State June 11-17 at Jacksons Mill were approved by the Newell Women's Club Monday night.

Twenty-nine attended the meeting in the American Legion home. Mrs. Ann Cawthon, president, conducted business.

Mrs. JoAnn Martin and Mrs. Betty Rector, social committee co-chairmen, announced the annual senior dinner will be held May 3 in the Chester Masonic Temple. The project is co-sponsored with the Newell Lions Club.

Mrs. Christine Collins, chairman, announced the annual Cancer Fund drive in Newell will begin the second week in April. A contribution of $10 was authorized for the Post-Prom Organization of Wells High.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 64, sponsored by the club, modeled original Easter bonnets and presented two plays they wrote for the program. Mrs. Betty Grimm and Mrs. Beth Haddock, co-leaders, were in charge.

Mrs. Gertrude Carson led devotions. Hostesses were Mrs. Barbara Stevens, Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Nancy Mosher. The next meeting is April 10.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove some cat-spu stains from my linen tablecloth?

A. Remove them as soon as possible, because age has a way of making these stains hard to budge. First flush as much of the stain as possible in a fairly concentrated solution of neutral detergent and water. Lubricate the remaining portion of the stain with glycerin, working it with the blunt edge of a knife or the back of a comb. Then flush again with the detergent-and-water solution.

Q. How can I prevent uncooked meat from becoming tainted?

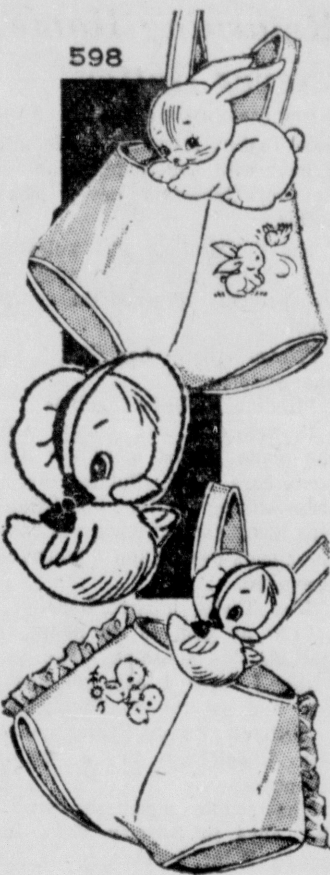

A. Uncooked meat should not be permitted to lie in its own juice, or it may become tainted. Place the meat on a platter with a hollow center that will hold the juice without the meat touching it.

Q. How can I remedy brittle fingernails that are inclined to break easily?

A. Try massaging the nails every night with olive oil.

On Feb. 19, 1964, Gen. Lamuel C. Sheperd, Jr., commandant of the Marine Corps, broke ground for the Marine Corps War Memorial in Arlington, Va.

Ohio View Women's Board Will Convene

The Ohio View Women's Club Executive Board will meet Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ed Ingfield of Ohio View with Mrs. Dennis Cambler co-hostess.

The Rev. William L. Young, pastor of the First Methodist Church of New Brighton, will speak on "About My Son" when the club meets Monday in the Fellowship Hall of the Ohio View Lutheran Church.

Mrs. William Daniels, hostess chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Stephen Hazy, Mrs. Harry Dornburg, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Martin Lindsay, Mrs. Joseph Patrick and Mrs. M. D. Renwick.

A cup or so of baked beans leftover? Mash them with chili sauce or catsup and use as a sandwich filling. Some cooks also like to add a little mayonnaise. This filling tastes good between slices of whole wheat bread.

Sherry L. Reed Exchanges Vows With Eric Young Jr.

Miss Sherry Lynn Reed chose March 23 — her father's birthday anniversary — to become the bride of Eric R. Young Jr. The double-ring ceremony was performed Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Boyce Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed of Kelly Ave., Glenmoor, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eric R. Young of Cannons Mills Rd.

The Rev. Ronald Reare, pastor, officiated before an altar background of palms, ferns and seven-branch candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Dorothy Golba, church organist, presented a half-hour of wedding music. Fred Kane sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length gown was made of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle and the fitted bodice was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, outlined with sequins and long, pointed sleeves.

The bouffant skirt, enhanced with an over-drape of lace, clipped with rose buds, fell into a chapel train of pleated ruffles. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a jeweled queen's crown.

She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations, stephanotis and yellow roses, centered with two white orchids and tied with satin streamers. Observing the traditions, the six-pence in her shoe was a gift of Miss Christine Morgan, a pen pal in England.

Miss Marsha Seeley was maid of honor and wore a waltz-length gown of blue silk organza. The fitted bodice featured a back V-neckline and short sleeves.

The bouffant skirt was designed with a bustle-back highlighted with piping and self-roses.

She wore a matching, petal-shaped cap with a theater veil and matching satin shoes, and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and yellow teaseros tied with matching streamers.

Miss Charlotte Kelly and Miss Lana Young were bridesmaids. Their identical gowns of pink silk organza featured scalloped bolero jackets of embossed flowers and bows. They wore satin shoes tinted to match and carried cascade bouquets of pink rosebuds and white carnations with streamers.

Their headpieces were similar to that of the maid of honor.

Sherrie Lynn Rodgers, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a blue dress with white flower hat. She carried a basket filled with mums, roses and stephanotis.

Craig Alan Reed, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried a white satin pillow holding the wedding ring of the bride's mother.

George Lones was best man and ushers were James Harsha and William Wilson.

The mother of the bride wore a jacket dress of shocking pink silk with matching accessories and flowered hat. The bridegroom's mother chose a turquoise blue dress of Shantung silk with three-quarter length matching coat and flowered hat. White orchid corsages complemented their attire.

A reception for 200 followed at the Boyce Auditorium. A four-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered a round table covered with a satin ruffled cloth and decorated with yellow roses, white carnations and fernery.

Milkglass appointments featured the buffet table highlighted with a centerpiece of white chrysanthemums. Wedding bells were suspended throughout the hall.

The reception was conducted by the WSCS of the church. Miss Debbie Reed, niece of the bride, and Miss Susan Young, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

For her honeymoon trip, the bride wore a violet-color jacket suit with white accessories and her bridal orchids.

Out-of-town guests were from Pittsburgh, Bellevue, Sewickley, Danville, Rochester, Chester and Midland.

The bride attended East Liverpool High School. Her husband attended Beaver Local School and served two years in the Army, being discharged March 16.

The newlyweds are residing temporarily with the bride's parents and are leaving Thursday for California.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Mrs. Richard Reed of Holliday St., sister-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. James Rodgers, who entertained at the home of the bridegroom's mother, and the World Friendship Girls of the church, who held a kitchen shower in her honor.

80 At Wellsville Eagles Auxiliary 14th Anniversary

Mrs. Merl McCracken of Bridgeport, state trustee, was guest speaker when the auxiliary of Eagles Aerie 772 of Wellsville observed its 14th anniversary Sunday. Approximately 80 from auxiliaries of the surrounding area attended.

The welcoming address was given by Mrs. Helen Watson and the East Liverpool degree team conducted the initiation of five candidates.

Mrs. Clara Long was honored as a 10-year chaplain of the group and was presented a gift. A corsage and gifts were presented to the state officer and Mrs. Ann Fultz of East Liverpool, past state madam president, and Mrs. Veronica Williams of Youngstown, past state madam chaplain, by Mrs. Tressa Lucas, local madam president. Mrs. Anne Murphy of Canton, state madam chaplain, was unable to be present because of illness.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock to 300 auxiliary and aerie members of the surrounding area by aerie members 772. The East Liverpool auxiliary kitchen band provided entertainment at 7 o'clock. Dancing followed with music furnished by Dale Scott's band. Entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Nora O'Neill and Mrs. Betty Long.

Scholarship Applications Taken By Steel Union

Applications are now being taken at the Steelworkers Local 1212 office in Midland for two scholarships being offered in the second annual Phillip Murray Scholarship awards.

One, valued at $500 per year, for four years, will be awarded to a college of the applicant's choice, renewable yearly providing funds are available and subject to the approval of the Executive Board and, or membership. Payments will be made, per semester, to the selected school.

Applicants must rank in the upper third of their class and maintain "B" average, must be a member or son or daughter of a member of Local 1212 in good standing. This also pertains to sons or daughters of deceased or retired members. The applicant cannot be an undergraduate.

The prospect must also take the College Board Examination before June 1961.

The nursing scholarship, valued at $150 per year for three years, will be given to a nursing school of the applicant's choice and is renewable yearly providing funds are available and subject to approval. Payments will be made per semester.

The applicant must take the National League of Nursing Test and be accepted by nursing school; maintain the academic standards of the school and be a daughter of a member of Local 1212 in good standing or daughter of deceased or retired members.

Deadline for applications for both will be June 1, 1961, and a transcript must be sent to the local union office at 617 Midland Ave. Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of tests, personality and achievement.

Members of the scholarship committee are Joseph D'Alesio, local president; Alfred Monaco, financial secretary; Steve Luketich, treasurer; Ray Stowitzky, educational consultant; John Shovlin III, school board member, and J. C. Singleton, committeeman.

D'Alesio is chairman of the committee and Annette Goyak secretary.

No Difficulty Expected

Ohio Senate Vote Slated On 23rd Amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Requests of Republican leaders have been heeded and the question of giving the presidential vote to District of Columbia residents is before the Ohio Senate.

Senators vote on the federal constitutional amendment—the 23rd—this afternoon, and no difficulty is expected. The Ohio House already has given its approval, 125-6.

The amendment already has been ratified by 36 state legislatures. Most Ohioans didn't pay much attention until Ohio and Kansas began playing a kind of cat-and-mouse game to see which could be the 38th and decisive state to ratify.

It's just possible neither will have the honor, because Texas and New Hampshire may complete ratification action today, and could nose out the Buckeye and Sunflower states.

Carl L. Shipley, Republican chairman in the District of Columbia, came to the Ohio capital Tuesday and discussed the matter at a policy meeting Tuesday night. Thruston Morton, national GOP chairman, got in touch with Ohio Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem from Washington, and Ohio Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss was in on discussions.

Mechem also is chairman of the powerful Senate Rules Committee, which he summoned to a five-minute meeting after the Republican policy meeting. There, the decision was made to schedule floor action on the resolution.

Shipley was said to have told GOP lawmakers that — if they were afraid the amendment might deliver the District of Columbia to the Democrats — it should be remembered that the candidate's nature, not that of the community, determines voting trend in urban areas.

Liz Taylor Says Returning Home 'Never Better'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—To Elizabeth Taylor, returning home after a bout with double pneumonia in London, California never looked better.

The Californians who welcomed her at the airport Tuesday enthusiastically returned the compliment.

"Never more beautiful," said one writer.

"Radiant," wrote another. It was cool and cloudy when the plane landed after the flight from New York. But as the actress—sitting in a wheelchair—was being carried down the ramp, the clouds parted and a warm sun prevailed.

Miss Taylor blinked happily. "I'm so glad to be home and see all this sunshine," she said. "Now I know I can get lots of rest and get my health back."

Husband Eddie Fisher pushed the wheelchair to a waiting limousine.

The couple plans to spend a few days in Beverly Hills, then go to Palm Springs for a long stay.

"I'm just going to sit in the sun for a few months," Miss Taylor said.

Democrat Club Hears Palestine Candidates

EAST PALESTINE — City Democratic candidates in the primary election May 2 spoke at a meeting of the Democratic Club Tuesday night at the old City Hall.

It was announced Mayor Robert Harding will discuss the new city electric power rates at the next meeting April 25.

Plans were made for a public card party April 15 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home, a dance April 29 at the Moose Lodge and the annual picnic June 28 at City Park.

Named Game Head

CINCINNATI (AP)—William H. Zimmer, executive vice president and director of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co., has been named chairman of the Cincinnati Reds-Cleveland Indians game at Crosley Field May 18 for the benefit of the Greater Cincinnati Amateur Baseball Fund.

Salineville Man Chairman

Rep. Bettis To Head Drive For Retarded Child Funds

State Rep. Warren Bettis of Salineville will head the 1961 drive of the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council, it was announced at a meeting of the council Tuesday night at the Elkton school building.

Bettis, former county prosecutor now serving his first term in the Ohio House, notified the council by letter he would be "honored to be a part of the drive."

W. E. Hixcox of Lisbon will be assistant chairman for the drive to be held later this year.

Dean Senanefes of Lisbon, Boy Scout aide, reported on preparations by boys of the special classes at Elkton to enter the Boy Scout organization.

It was announced the Ohio Retarded Children's Association convention will be held April 21-23 at Akron. A number of members plan to attend.

Don Mackey of East Liverpool, president, was in charge of the meeting attended by 15. The next meeting is April 25.

2 Cars Sustain Damage In Hit-Skip Accident

Two cars were damaged in a hit-skip accident involving a tractor-trailer truck Tuesday afternoon at 2 on Clark Ave., Wellsville police said.

Officers said the truck hit a car driven by Clyde B. Russell of Hammondsville as it was passing him. The impact knocked Russell's car into a parked auto owned by Richard Hall of East Liverpool.

Russell told police the truck was owned by the B. & L. Lease Co. of Newark. The driver did not stop.

Cars driven by Charles Johnson, 931 Cedar Ave., Wellsville, and Joseph Mercer of 6th and Wood Sts., Wellsville, collided at 5th and Commerce Sts. at 6:05 p. m. Tuesday, police said.

2 Lorain Area Men To Oppose Hoffa In Voting

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Two Lorain area men say they will oppose Teamster Union president James Hoffa and his vice president in the international union's July election.

Robert E. Stewart, 31, of Vermilion said Tuesday he is serious in his opposition to Hoffa for the top spot and that Stewart's vice presidential nominee will be William F. Cutlip, 37, of Lorain.

Stewart, a truck driver for 16 years, said delegates supporting him would be offered in at least 10 per cent of the Teamster locals across the country next month.

He called untrue Hoffa's statement that he (Hoffa) was unopposed in the coming election in Miami, Fla.

"If the rank and file is really given a chance to vote we will win," Stewart said. "We want a clean union and it needs a lot of changes."

Stewart's membership in Local 964 of Cleveland has been questioned, however, Joseph J. Bateman, secretary-treasurer of the local, said Stewart had not paid his dues since last November and therefore was not eligible to seek any office.

On the other hand, Stewart said he is paid up and that his dues book is in the hands of a Sandusky lawyer.

4-H News

Miss Mary E. Ketchum was elected president of the Gavertown Valley Girls 4-H Club Monday evening when 24 members met at the Wayne School.

Others elected were Martha Chestnut, vice president; Betty Rowley, secretary; Darlynn Bouscher, treasurer; Louise Day, reporter; Kim Weston, song and game chairman; Debbie Bouscher, health and safety; and Phillis McCulley, devotion leader.

Registration cards were completed and project books were distributed. Lunch was served.

Next meeting is April 10 and the lunch committee will be Verna Clager, Nadine Harsh, Miss Ketchum, Darlynn Bouscher and Miss Chestnut.

About 14 attended a meeting of the Happy Hands 4-H Club Monday night at Salineville High School at which Candy Smith presented a health report on food.

Diane Detchon, president, was in charge. Cynthia Smith and Nancy Frazer will give reports at the meeting April 10. Mrs. Verla Detchon and Mrs. Jean Thomas are advisors.

Red-Hot Battle Shapes Up On Street And Road Funds

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — It apparently is going to be several weeks before the Senate Highways Committee reaches the moment of truth on how to give local government more street and road money.

Fourteen witnesses appeared before the committee Tuesday, representing cities, counties, townships, farmers, labor and the state.

With varying degrees of enthusiasm they endorsed Senate Bill 307, which would increase license plate fees to produce between $17.5 million and $19 million a year more for the subdivisions.

Still waiting to testify are supporters of House Bill 49, which would give local governments $15 million more a year without increasing license fees by shifting the cost of the Department of Highway Safety from those fees to gasoline tax revenue, which now goes to the highway department.

H.B. 49, a Republican platform plank, has passed the House. But since that time it has run into considerable opposition from municipalities, who fear they would lose more than they would gain if the State Highway Department made up for its money loss by cutting off aid to local projects.

Also opposing the House bill are some groups and individuals who assert the state's road program will need all the money it can get in the next few years to keep its long-range construction plan on schedule.

Most of two days' witnesses said they mainly are interested in getting more local money regardless of the means. They cited masses of figures showing their share of highway-user revenues do not meet maintenance costs, let alone new construction.

The majority of witnesses added, however, that they would prefer the license fee increase because it would produce more money instead of just shifting the funds already available.

Also injected into the hearing was the question of revamping the present formula by which highway funds are distributed to local governments. The consensus, however, appeared to favor granting more money now and worrying about the formula later.

The outcome of the contest between H.B. 49 and S.B. 307 is still very much in doubt. The GOP leaders of the General Assembly are not likely to drop the House measure until, if ever, it becomes apparent the votes do not exist to override an almost certain veto by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Even if that situation develops it is possible the Republican chieftains might turn to still another approach — a House bill to give cities the right to license motor vehicles along with the state.

This idea would help local governments without raising state taxes, which the Republicans have promised not to do. The bill is favored by the Ohio Municipal League but would not give any direct aid to townships and counties.

The Senate Highways Committee hearings on H.B. 49 and S.B. 307 next week and probably for a few weeks beyond that.

In the meantime, backers of one bill or the other will be increasing the pressure on the legislators in what promises to become the hottest fight of the current legislative session.

2 Pupils Jailed In School Theft

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Two Ayersville High School juniors were jailed here today in the looting of a safe in the school of $1,000 in cash and $1,200 in checks March 17. Prosecuting Attorney John E. Zimmerman announced.

In addition, the prosecutor said, the students had confessed seven other area burglaries.

James Robert Greener, 18, was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond set by Common Pleas Judge Dan Batt. Prosecutor Zimmerman filed a motion before Juvenile Judge John W. Winn seeking relinquishment of juvenile court jurisdiction over the other boy, Lamar Jay Leininger, 17.

The burglaries began Jan. 12, with all the Ayersville thefts resulting in small loot, the prosecutor said.

Judge, 77, Dies

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Oliver Starr, 77, a judge of the Indiana Supreme Court from 1944-1950, died Tuesday after a long illness. Starr, a former Republican leader in Gary, was born in Wells County, Ind.

Glenn H. Rice Elected Head Of VFW Post

Glenn H. Rice, 1014 Avondale St., was elected commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66 at a meeting Tuesday night in the post home on Minerva St.

Sherwood Robinson, retiring commander, conducted business.

Other officers elected were Sherman Rohr, senior vice commander; Nelson Dallas, junior vice commander; O. V. Ryan, quartermaster; Raymond Robinson, judge advocate; John Wright, chaplain; Dr. Robert S. Manor, surgeon; Joseph Reed, service officer; Harold Martin, three-year trustee; Ross Swogger, two-year trustee, and Carlos Sayre, insurance trustee.

Date of the annual installation will be announced. Lunch was served by John Wright, Dallas, Rohr, Ray Wright and Frank Nentwick.

The post and the Tri-State Casting Club will co-sponsor an Easter egg hunt Saturday afternoon at 1 at the Casting Club. Prizes will be awarded in three age groups, 1 to 6, 6 to 10, and 10 to 15. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Akron CD Survives

Despite Council Action

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Civil Defense has survived here, even though City Council voted 7-6 last week to abolish the jobs of the C D director, Dorothy Koller, and her assistant, Cassandra Campbell.

Law Director Harry Van Berg told Council Tuesday under the city's charter a two-thirds majority vote was needed on the issue. Akron will play host April 13 to a meeting of Civil Defense leaders from seven states and the District of Columbia.

Church At Elkton Will Screen Slides

Slides of the Holy Land will be screened at a public program at the Elkton Methodist Church Friday night at 7:30 by Mrs. Leona Caldwell of Lisbon.

Homeroom mothers were to be in charge of Easter parties today at the Elkton School.

Mrs. George Eells entertained a group Tuesday night in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Terri.

A bake sale will be held at the Elkton 4-H Merry Maids Saturday morning at the Democratic headquarters at Lisbon.

Mrs. Grace Eells of Sebring visited Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nett Wolfe.

Mrs. Ethelm May of Sebring spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Olin Evans.

Mrs. Essie Thomas of Rogers visited Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickey Sunday.

PTA At United Starts

Minstrel Rehearsals

HANOVERTON — Rehearsals have been started for the annual minstrel show of the United Parent-Teacher Association April 28-29.

Robert Hill and Mike Kupinski are co-directors of "Dixie Jubilee," a review of highlights of previous shows from 1955. Rehearsals are being held Monday nights at the school. Any men in the area interested in taking part may report at the next session.

Stock Editor Dies

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — W. Kenneth Hayes, 61, editor of the Exchange, a monthly magazine of the New York Stock Exchange, died Tuesday, after a long illness. Hayes began his journalistic career on the Wall Street Journal in the 1920s and had worked for the Los Angeles Examiner and the United Press before joining the Exchange magazine in 1951.

Court To Study Pleas Fighting Extradition

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The 7th District Court of Appeals took under advisement Tuesday the appeals of two Ohio men fighting extradition to Pennsylvania to stand trial for burglary.

Philip Mainer of Youngstown and Joseph Drago of Cleveland are appealing Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Battisti's denial of writs of habeas corpus. Applications were filed by counsel for the men after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle ordered their extradition. Drago and Mainer are accused of being members of a gang which robbed a Sharon, Pa., clothing store last Sept. 17. Four of the burglars already have been sentenced.

'No One To Talk To,' Widow Says In Thefts

DETROIT (AP)—Mary McBain, 44, a widow, told police Tuesday she had accumulated $5,000 worth of stolen goods in 10 years because she had "no one to talk to."

Officers said a fantastic variety of goods was found in the home of Mrs. McBain, arrested in a store on a charge of trying to take a necklace. She is held in $5,000 bond for alleged larceny.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Troubled By Midnight Hunger

"Here I am again. I can't sleep and feel that if I 'talk' to you I will be helped to some extent. Months ago I did this same thing, and for the same reason—I was worried about my eating habits."

"A year ago January 1 I read 25 pounds and felt wonderful. Now I have fallen back into a habit of eating late at night. Tonight, unable to sleep with a nervousness I cannot account for, I got up and have eaten — you won't believe this — 1/4 pound of crackers with butter and jam, cheese, a half dozen pancakes and a glass of milk!"

"I lost my husband in November. Following this I was called on to assist when my grandson became ill. I spent the holidays cooking for my youngest son and his bride."

"I HAVEN'T had a chance to make my adjustment to living alone and now it may be catching up on me. Like some take to drink, I take to food when troubled or worried."

"Maybe I'll mail this letter and maybe I'll decide not to concern you with it. I told you about my diet regime before...an egg with breakfast, lean meat, a vegetable and salad at noon, and a light supper. This time I will add skim milk between meals as I like a cup of coffee at meal time."

"It is now 12:45. I promise myself that I will be able to sleep. I know that writing this letter will be a therapy of sorts. I am one of your faithful readers and I will just sign myself — A Friend."

Friend, it is important for you to understand that many people turn to food for solace following the loss of a loved one. This is a common reaction.

People need help during this adjustment period. Make an appointment to see your doctor. Talk with him about your nervousness which leads to night eating. He will take measures to deal with the physical cause of the nervousness. At your time of life special medication may be needed to relieve tension.

After a sorrow it takes courage to get back into a normal living pattern since the tendency will be to wait until you feel more like yourself. Get out of doors in the sunshine — see how spring is coming along. If you can, walk to a friend's home, pay a brief visit and walk home. It is good therapy to talk with people, and to exercise in the fresh air.

About your diet. A too light supper may be one cause of the intense night hunger. Build your evening meal around lean meat, poultry or fish, add a modest portion of a starchy food, and a salad. Have fruit for dessert. Finish with a hot beverage. Your doctor may suggest you change to decaffeinated coffee.

SKIM MILK between meals is excellent. Have a glass of warm milk before retiring, perhaps fortified with dry skim milk powder. When the cause of the nervousness is treated, and you get tired in outdoor exercise, sleep will come peacefully.

Send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope, for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

High Court Dismisses Plea In 2-20 Year Term On Bribe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today dismissed the appeal of George Markos, former coin machine operator, from his 2-20 year prison sentence for offering "protection" bribes to Mayor Clifford C. Froelich of Dover.

Tuscarawas County indictments charged the 64-year-old Markos with offering $1,500 during a 15-month period ending in May, 1959, for gambling protection. The indictments stemmed from an attorney general's investigation into vice conditions in neighboring Stark County.

Four others were indicted on charges of offering bribes and the mayor on charges of accepting them. All are awaiting trial.

The state Supreme Court agreed to review refusal of lower courts to enjoin Mansfield City School District from appropriating 35 1/2 acres from a tract owned by Miss Justine C. Sterkel that lies in adjoining Madison Township Local School District.

Counsel for Miss Sterkel contended the Mansfield District lacked authority to take land from another district. Her tract lies beside Lexington Ave. outside Mansfield City limits.

In another case, the high court let stand denial of damages by lower courts to a motorist whose car, stopped with the left wheels on a state highway, was demolished by another automobile.

Leda Hartwell sued Freddie L. Stults after the 1959 collision of their machines on Ohio 3 north of Westerville in Delaware County. Lower courts held for Stults, whose car struck the parked Hartwell car from the rear.

Elementary Principals Will Elect On April 6

LISBON — Officers will be elected when the Columbiana County Elementary Principals' Association meets Thursday, April 6, at 6:30 p. m. at the Wick Hotel.

John Santini, Chagrin Falls, principal, will discuss the ungraded school as it is developing at his school. Robert Scanlon of Leetonia will give a report of the program planned for the East Central Ohio Teachers' Association meeting May 5.

David A. Borrow of Lisbon, president, will preside.

Cherry Blossom Band Includes Ex-City Girl

Miss Carol Ann Persohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Persohn of Lake Worth, Fla., former local residents, will be playing with the Lake Worth High School Band in the national Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, April 6-8.

The band has appeared on TV several times and each year performs in the Orange Bowl parade in Miami on New Year's eve.

Miss Persohn is a senior and plays first chair flute. Mrs. Persohn taught in the local school system for many years and her husband formerly operated a meat market.

Martin Funeral Home

Dear friends,

Following a bereavement, all notes of condolence should be answered personally. A note of gratitude should also be sent to the clergyman, to each pallbearer, and to anyone who has been of special help.

The offering to the clergyman may be made by the funeral director and added to his bill for services. More often, the offering accompanies the family's note of gratitude for the clergyman's comfort and aid.

Respectfully,

Harry L. Martin

AEC Reducing Power Use At Three Plants

OAKE RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission is beginning a gradual reduction in the use of power at three of its atomic energy plants, including the one at Portsmouth, Ohio. The commission said the cutback will amount to one million kilowatts and will take place over the next 3½ years. The commission also said it is canceling a contract with Ohio Valley Electric Corp., which supplies 150,000 kilowatts of power to the Portsmouth plant. The two other plants being cut back are here and at Paducah, Ky.

Oven-Baked Croquettes Have Crisp Exterior

If you haven't made croquettes because you thought they had to be fried, and you were trying to avoid the extra calories, here's good news. Croquettes may also be baked. In the recipe that follows, the croquettes are rolled in packaged corn flake crumbs which gives them a nice crisp exterior while the inside stays soft and moist.

To give the croquettes a lively taste, some lemon juice and a little tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning, are added to the salmon mixture.

Tartar sauce is the usual accompaniment to croquettes, and it, too, calls for the added zip of tabasco.

Milk
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
1-3 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup (approximately) packaged corn flake crumbs

Drain liquid from salmon into measuring cup; add milk to make 1 cup liquid. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Blend in flour, salt and Tabasco. Add milk mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Flake salmon and add to sauce with lemon juice. Stir in ½ cup corn flake crumbs. Refrigerate until chilled. Divide into 8 or 10 portions and shape into cones. Roll in remaining corn flake crumbs to coat well. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown. Serve with Tabasco tartar sauce. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

TABASCO TARTAR SAUCE
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped green olive
2 tablespoons chopped pickle
Stir Tabasco and vinegar into mayonnaise. Add remaining ingredients, mix well.
Yield: About 1-1½ cups.

Airlines Asks CAB To Suspend Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lake Central Airlines wants the Civil Aeronautics Board to let it suspend service at Sandusky, Ohio, until the city's airport has been improved.

The Federal Aviation Agency told the airline that use of the airport has been disapproved because the runway is only 75 feet wide and loose gravel is damaging aircraft propellers. Lake Central said improvements are planned, and it proposes to restore service when possible.

Cites Landing Facilities

CINCINNATI (AP)—George W. Howie, Cincinnati public utilities director, says the city parking site near Crosley Field may be provided with helicopter landing facilities. He said this would be an interim measure until construction of a downtown heliport and that the facilities would not interfere with baseball parking.

Pennsylvania PUC Grants Bus Fare Hike

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission Tuesday approved a five per cent increase in intercity fares for 15 bus lines operating in the state. The lines included Pittsburgh & Weirton Bus Co., Weirton, W. Va., effective April 11; and the Greyhound Corp. (Eastern Division), Cleveland, effective April 15.

Research To Continue At GE Facility In Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the cutback in work on atomic powered airplane engines, research is expected to continue at General Electric Co.'s Evendale, Ohio, plant. The facility near Cincinnati employs 2,300.

President Kennedy proposed Tuesday to withdraw military participation from the nuclear plane project but to continue a reduced research program under the Atomic Energy Commission. An Administration official said additional research funds are being asked "because we have this skilled manpower that is available in teams. We want to keep the teams together."

James Daniels Named Head Of Wellsville VFW Post 5647

James Daniels was named commander to succeed his brother, Emmett (Skip) Daniels, during election of officers held Tuesday night by Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

James served with the Navy occupation forces following World War II. He resides on Highland Ave. Emmett had served as commander two consecutive years. Other officers named were Dohman Rosenlieb, senior vice commander; Robert (Nick) Graham, junior vice commander; John Prokop, quartermaster; Paul Vogel, judge advocate; Earl Roseberry, chaplain; Dr. R. C. Provost of Toronto, a dentist, post surgeon; Emmett Daniels, three-year trustee; and William Rager, two-year trustee to fill the post vacated by Graham.

Plans were made for a social Saturday, April 29, with World War I veterans to be invited.

Benny Smith, 2012 Buckeye Ave., will present several copies of the original Stars & Stripes newspaper to the post for a proposed war library. Smith already has presented the post a copy of a mimeographed sheet printed Wednesday, March 19, 1919, aboard the USS George Washington while crossing the Atlantic.

Smith was aboard and the ship paper carried a story of his outfit.

Plans also were made to raise money for a Little League team.

The post was informed that there is a proposal that the Soldiers & Sailors Relief Commission be abolished and all the work handled under the state's general relief program.

Family At Hammondsville Visits Friends At Ashtabula

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crook and son, Tim, of Hammondsville spent Saturday in Ashtabula, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Decker.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Myers and Bonnie Lawrence visited Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lieby and family Saturday in Parma.

Mrs. Gussie Parson spent the weekend with her son and family. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parson, of near Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Sivard spent the weekend with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, at Phillipsburgh. Their granddaughter, Julie Brown, is visiting this week with her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, in Irondale.

W. M. Crook and grandson, Tim Crook, spent Sunday with the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Crook and family in Masury.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Culp and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Horn and family of Canton visited local relatives Sunday.

Robin and Jody Heiney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Heiney, have returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Heffner and family of Massillon.

Rosalind Baker has concluded a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Frontone in Columbus and is practicing teaching the third grade of Lincoln School in East Liverpool. She is a student of Kent State University.

Mrs. Helene Addams and daughter, JoAnn, have moved from the Lula Boehm property to the Edna Beatty property in Huyghueville.

Porter Lewis has returned home after observation in Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Resuming studies this week at Kent State University after vacationing at home are Kay Baxter, Betty Ann Armour, John Pilutti and Tommy Rawlings.

Mrs. Robert Kelly is able to be out after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Young and children, Billy and Bonnie, spent Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Steele and family of Cambridge.

Reluctant Jail Guest's Bond Boosted To $134

It pays to be tranquil in the Chester jail, Max Brauman, 69-year-old Pittsburgh man learned Tuesday when he posted a $134.50 bond for a hearing on intoxication.

Brauman, cited Monday on Carolina Ave. by Police Chief Harold Davis, is due a hearing Thursday before Mayor Ray Collins. Besides being generally "noisy," Brauman caused some $28 damage to plumbing and fixtures in the cell block during his stay, police said.

Avoid the mistake of using a single lamp to light a reading area, leaving the rest of the room dark. The contrast between the dark and lighted areas will cause eyestrain and fatigue.

Tobin's Name Retained On Judge Applications

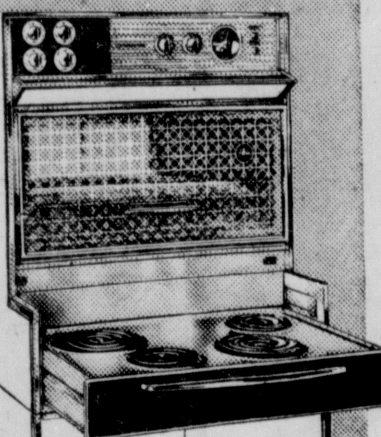

Columbiana County Probate Judge Louis Tobin's name remains in Sen. Stephen M. Young's list of 20 applicants for two federal judgeships in Northern Ohio with the withdrawal of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland.

Sen. Young, D-Ohio, said there will be no decision on recommendations for the jobs until the positions actually are established.

Congress is expected to enact legislation creating the additional judgeships — one permanent, the other temporary. Young said Tuesday night he and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, have agreed not to recommend appointments until the proposed legislation becomes law.

Young made the comment after the withdrawal of Mayor Celebrezze, his first choice.

Popular Support—Neutral

Laos Indifferent Toward Struggle Over Tiny Land

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—What do the Laotians themselves think about the power struggle between those two far-away giants, the United States and Russia, over their tiny land?

For a lot of them, not much. Report after report from there tells of great indifference to the civil war between the Russian-backed rebels in the north and the American-supported right-wing government in the south.

The greatest popular support is for neither side but for Prince Souvanna Phouma. He's neutral.

To a lot of Laotians, therefore, the United States and Russia must look like a couple of busybodies. Yet the Laotians have to depend on someone. The country earns only a fraction of its expenses.

In 1960 its exports totaled $1.6 million while its national deficit was $33 million, about 20 times its export figure. Since 1954 this country put $310 million into Laos, most of it for the military forces.

Yet the Associated Press reports even the combatants are devout Buddhists who don't like to kill and have to be coaxed into fighting by their big-power backers.

The Laotians don't even think as a nation. Many of them are split into tribes. One official said to most Laotians the civil war is just another family fight.

Yet Russia wants the Communist-led rebels to win. A Red Laos would be a foothold for a takeover in the rest of Southeast Asia. For that reason the United States is determined to block them.

So the Laotians are caught in the middle.

If there is peace in Laos—and if the country is divided, as it probably will be, since the Reds don't usually yield any ground—both sides will have to work to win support.

Since both the West and communism will propagandize the people in their area, in due time maybe the Laotians on both sides will learn to get angry enough at each other to fight in earnest.

All this sounds a little reminiscent—although the cases are not identical—of Indochina, half of which the French lost to communism in 1954.

The French had held all of Viet Nam from back in the 19th century. Being colonial-minded, they didn't train the Vietnamese for independence. Eventually, the Communists in the north revolted.

From 1946 to 1954 the French fought them. But the French were so dainty they didn't send any draftees to Viet Nam, just volunteers.

One thing was sure: They weren't getting many volunteers from among the Vietnamese who simply wanted the French out. If they volunteered it was usually with the Communist-led rebels in the north.

Eventually the French had to give up the northern half. Now, seven years later, the Communists are on the move again, sending their guerrillas into South Viet Nam.

If Laos is split in half the time will probably come when the Reds from the north put the heat on their southern brothers and there'll be a crisis of some kind all over again.

Arrest Of Four Ends Theft Of Copper Scrap

CINCINNATI (AP)—The arrest of four General Electric Co. employees has ended thefts of thousands of pounds of copper scrap, police said Tuesday.

Detectives said the men admitted taking copper worth $22,500 from the company's distribution assemblies department. The men were identified as Tincy Stacey, 52, Blue Ash; Bert Hensley, 27, Hebron, Ky.; Robert Ballou, 36, Norwood, and Arbie Dengess, 52, Cincinnati.

Hamilton OKs Budget

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County Commissioners have adopted a budget resolution calling for expenditures of $45,198,244 during the rest of the year. The resolution, providing $3.8 million more than was appropriated last year, was passed over the protests of department heads who said it did not provide enough money.

Other 2 May Pop Up

Senate Unit Kills 1 Of 3 Bills On Junior Colleges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Senate committee has killed one of three bills before the legislature which would permit a system of two-year junior colleges or technical training institutes.

But it appears that two more bills will pop up where this one has gone down.

The beaten bill was sponsored by Sens. Eugene J. Sawicki, D-Cuyahoga; Oliver Ocasio, D-Summit, and Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Montgomery. The vote in the Senate Education Committee Tuesday night was 6-5.

Immediately afterward, Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, committee chairman and one of the six voting to kill the bill, said he will introduce two measures next Monday or Tuesday. Both are being drafted now.

One, Pepple said, is concerned with construction of buildings and operation of technical training institutes, relying on local management and financing instead of state funds. The other deals with expanding branches of state universities and would include a provision for state appropriation to help pay for capital improvements involved.

Pepple said the Sawicki-Ocasio-Whalen bill would have been "butchered" if amendment had been attempted. He said a substitute bill also was considered.

Pepple said he will try to have his two bills made GOP policy bills because they might not have much chance otherwise, this far along in legislative proceedings.

Voting with Pepple to kill the bill were Republican Sens. Gordon Renner, Hamilton; John W. Brown Medina; David Ferguson, Guernsey; Roy Gardner, Richland, and Donald C. Steiner, Stark.

Republican Kline L. Roberts, Franklin, joined Democrats Ocasio; J. Sherman Porter, Gallia (who said he voted to recommend it out of committee to let other senators consider it); Ed Witmer, Stark) and John J. Corrigan in voting to recommend it out.

The bill closely followed recommendations of a governor's commission which has been studying ways of expanding post-high school education in Ohio.

Arlene Dahl Expects Child In Late Summer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Arlene Dahl expects a child next August or early September.

Funeral Set Thursday

For Semple's Widow

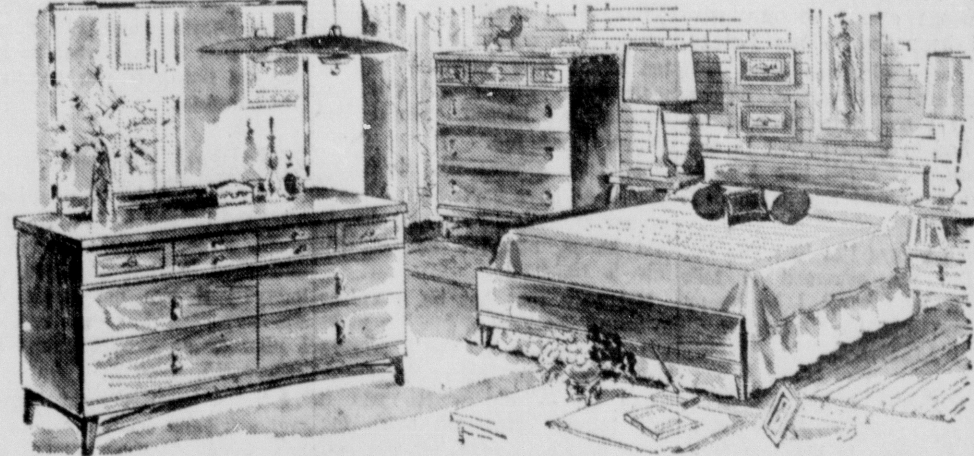

CINCINNATI (AP)—Funeral services are planned Thursday for Mrs. Louise Taft Semple, daughter of Charles P. Taft who founded the old Cincinnati Times-Star. Mrs. Semple died at her home in nearby Indian Hill Monday.

She was the widow of Dr. William T. Semple, professor emeritus of classics at the University of Cincinnati. She and her sister, Mrs. Albert Ingalls of Cleveland, each owned a 40 per cent interest in the Times-Star before it was sold to the E. W. Scripps Co. several years ago and merged with its afternoon competitor, the Cincinnati Post.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school junior with a very jealous nature. I've tried hard to change but I can't.

I get excellent grades and have earned many awards and honors. But when something nice happens to someone else I secretly wish it had happened to me instead.

Last week elections were held for student government offices. The girl I nominated won. I actually had to force myself to congratulate her. I felt like a faker because I wanted that office myself.

No one knows I'm like this but you. I'm too ashamed to talk about it. Why can't I be happy for others and their success?

—DON'T LIKE ME.

Dear Don't: I like you—because you're honest. Deep down inside everyone is his own favorite person. We all would like everything good if we could have everything good, but we know we can't because life doesn't work that way.

Accept your feelings as natural and stop feeling guilty. It may help if you re-word your compliments so they are more truthful. For example: Don't say, "I'm so happy you won."

Say instead, "I would have loved the honor myself but if I couldn't have it, I'm glad you got it."

Wayward Husbands

Dear Ann: You've printed many letters from wives who have written about their husbands' affairs with other women but the one who signed herself "World Destroyed" got me.

Here is a wife who is lucky enough to have her husband come to her, practically on his hands and knees, and tell her his affair is finished.

Not only that but he promises to spend the rest of his life making her happy if she'll forgive him. So what does the dumb dame do — she writes you a long letter, cries all over the place that he ruined her life and that she can't stand the sight of him — and then she signs herself "World Destroyed."

My husband is having a torrid romance with a very good friend of mine. Neither one knows I'm aware of it. I would give anything if he'd come to me and tell me it's over.

If the woman who wrote to you thinks her world is destroyed

(she should try living in mine. — LIFE IS LOUSY.

Dear Life: I don't see much difference between your signature and hers. You both have a defeatist, negative attitude. Since you didn't ask for advice, I am offering none. Just keep in mind that it's not what happens to you but how you handle it, that counts.

Indebted To Pest

Dear Ann: A friend of mine has attached herself to me like a barnacle. Every morning she phones and says, "What are you doing today?" If I'm not doing much she says, "I'll come over." If I plan to go shopping she says, "I'll come, too."

I can't have a card game or invite friends in without inviting her because she knows every move I make.

I like her and she has done me many favors (like keeping my children when I go on a trip) but I feel as if I'm her prisoner. How do I free myself? — ADELLE.

Dear Adelle: By getting out of her debt. Don't let her keep your children or do anything else for you. When you no longer feel obligated, you'll feel free to tell her you have plans for the day which don't include her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ambulance Volunteers Sought By Midland CD

Volunteers still are needed for the ambulance corps of the Midland Civil Defense, Danny Orlando, director, reported.

He asked that residents "help themselves and their community" by joining the unit. He said stretchers will be placed in Midland stores in the near future.

Future meetings of the unit have been changed to the last Friday of the month. The next will be April 28, the day of "Operation Alert '61," a nationwide air alert.

Mass Services Set For 12 Fire Victims

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mass services will be held here Friday for the 12 members of one family who died when a pre-dawn fire destroyed their home in the nearby Dotsonville community.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead, their nine children and Mrs. Whitehead's father, Albert Gibbs, who lived with the Whiteheads. The children ranged in age from 13 years to nine months.

Gosney Seeks Boost In Local Jobs On Road

Don Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman, is scheduled to confer by phone today with State Highway Director Everett S. Preston at Columbus to urge that East Liverpool residents be employed wherever possible by contractors at work on the California Hollow-West End Freeway project.

In making the suggestion to Preston, Gosney is following through on a proposal made by the East Liverpool Democratic Club at a meeting Friday night. The club asserted more local labor should be employed on the project and added that many out-of-town residents are on the contractors' payrolls in the $6 million project.

"While we realize this work is being done under private contract awarded to the lowest bidders and that we have no direct control over it, we are vitally interested in seeing local labor used wherever possible, particularly in view of the present economic situation," Gosney said.

But Gosney said the Democratic organization is not seeking the right to designate who will be hired.

"We are not interested in using this project for political patronage," he said. "We don't want to name the men; we want to make the jobs available to all the unemployed."

Gosney said he recognizes that the contractors have many employees who have worked for them for years and have followed the companies from job to job.

"We can't very well ask them to let go men like that, but I will do all possible to see that local hiring is increased," he added.

Gosney said that he, Rep. Wayne L. Hays and Preston already have discussed the question of employment on highway projects with the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington.

The congressman urged that the federal agency have an understanding with contractors that local labor will be used in new highway contracts, particularly those in depressed areas, Gosney said.

Lowers Boom On 'Big Shots'

Ohio House Votes Today On Crime Conspiracy Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first major bill proposed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle comes to a vote in the Republican-controlled Ohio House today.

The proposal before the House now is on its second trip through the legislature. Known generally as the criminal conspiracy bill, it's designed to lower the boom on big shots of crime in the fields of gambling, prostitution and illegal narcotics.

The measure prohibits plotting to violate the law in those fields. It sets penalties for conspiracy not to exceed the statutory penalty for direct law violation. A somewhat broader proposal passed the House two years ago, but got hung up in the Senate.

Asked by newsmen his attitude toward the modified measure before the House, the governor replied:

"We're glad to get it. We think we really need it. There has been a general pickup in vice in recent months, reports from liquor department investigators indicate. The pickup is general — in the same old places, but more of it."

DiSalle was to state his objections today to a bill, passed by the House, which cancels bills to responsible relatives before 1956 for care of mental patients in state institutions. He was to appear before the Senate Finance Committee.

His veto message in connection with the GOP-sponsored jobless benefits extension bill was officially received by the House Tuesday.

day. It's doubtful enough votes can be mustered to override it, and DiSalle is daring Republicans to try.

A bill permitting sales tax exemption for meals and sales by churches and charitable organizations—as long as they are only on six occasions a year, and only one in any given month—passed the House without a dissenting vote Tuesday. It also exempts bulk cooling tanks used on farms from the sales tax—a move to nullify an Ohio Supreme Court decision which said they're taxable.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

Make murder and rape the only crimes for which probation is not permitted (allowing probation instead of prison for persons convicted for assault with intent to rape, administering poison, arson, sodomy or incest).

Make anyone fraudulently using a telephone credit card or other improper means of charging calls liable to a maximum $500 fine and six months in jail.

Senate bill to increase the number of judges brought about a hassle between Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey and its sponsors two weeks ago, but came back after almost being counted out. Donahey, the Senate's presiding officer, ruled March 14 that the bill—which got 22 favorable votes—needed a two-thirds majority, or 26. Sponsors moved for reconsideration.

In Tuesday's showdown, sponsors got the necessary 26 votes to reconsider and 26 on the next vote to pass it and sent it to the House. It would give Cuyahoga County three more appeals court judges, and Franklin County one more.

Also passed and sent to the House by senators was a bill modernizing Ohio's laws covering commercial transactions. It's designed to make them uniform with similar laws in nine other states—and eventually, it's hoped, the entire nation, sponsors said. In 1959, a similar measure died in the Senate after the House passed it by a narrow margin.

A bill allowing nearby property owners to acquire abandoned town ship roads after 21 years of disuse was unanimously approved and sent to the House.

Two more bills, one to put sheriffs' deputies under civil service and the other to provide workmen's compensation coverage for apprentices, were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

Star Scout Ranks Awarded To Trio

Star Scout rank was conferred on three members at a Court of Honor held Monday night at Calvary Methodist Church by Boy Scout Troop 38.

They are Robert Stoddard, John Moore and Richard Boley. The awards were given the boys by their mothers.

Four Scouts were given second class rank: Roy Wright, Ted Hanselman and Terry and Ted Blythe. Merit badges were given Richard Boley, Terry Baker, Jim Eutzler, Robert Stoddard, Dan Pinkerton and Jim Williamson.

Paul Grafton, chairman of the troop committee, gave a talk, "What Is Scouting?" Scoutmaster Lawrence Bickle presided. Twenty-three scouts and 14 parents attended.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer and the pledge of allegiance. Other committeemen attending were Dick Skelton and Ben Webber.

The scouts served refreshments to their parents. The next meeting is April 3 at 7 p. m. at the church.

Police, Vacation Bring Quiet To Bowling Green U. Campus

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Invasion by a small army of Ohio Highway Patrolmen Tuesday night and beginning of a week's spring vacation at noon today have brought quiet to Bowling Green State University's troubled campus.

More than 50 patrolmen moved across the campus Tuesday night, forcing students to return to their dormitories. This came after university president Ralph W. McDonald proclaimed a state of emergency.

Dr. McDonald took the action after many students had boycotted classes Tuesday and about 400 had gathered in front of the student union building.

On both Sunday and Monday evenings such groups grew to number nearly 2,000 and roamed the school and downtown areas.

Within an hour after McDonald's declaration activity on the campus was described as far below normal. Patrolmen were instructed to pick up any students who did not have proper identification and could not show a reason for being out. Patrolmen also stopped cars going through the area.

All of the demonstrations, the students say, are in protest against university regulations.

The student council Tuesday said all students could air their grievances to that governing body on April 13. The major gripes would then be forwarded to the school administration.

Earlier in the evening McDonald had praised the students for not causing any damage to property during the three-day disturbance.

Many of the demonstrators stayed out of classes and sat about the campus in little groups Tuesday. The move, however, lost some of its steam when a number of students decided to return to class rather than face a $5 fine the school imposes on students who miss a class just before a vacation.

Dr. Elden Smith, dean of students, said there does not appear to be any single outstanding complaint, but rather a collection of individual grievances.

Cleveland Committee Plans 'Walk For Peace'

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy has planned a nine-mile "walk for peace" down Euclid Avenue April 15. Demonstrators are to walk from suburban Euclid to Public Square, where an open-air meeting is scheduled.

Dr. Paul Olynk, chairman, said both the length of the hike and the date are symbolic. The nine miles represents the radius of destruction should a nuclear bomb be exploded over Cleveland, he said. The date, the deadline for federal income taxes, was selected, he said, "to bring home to the people of Cleveland both the extreme peril and the crushing financial burden which the arms race means to us all."

The largest fresh-water lake in the United States which is situated within one state is Lake Okeechobee, Florida. It is 40 miles long, 28 miles wide and has an area of 700 square miles.

Semi-Final Berths Up For Grabs In Wellsville Tournament Tonight

Champs Open Defense With Easy Victory

Four berths in the semi-finals will be at stake tonight in the third round of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce basketball tournament at Beacom Memorial gym.

Here's Tonight's Cage Schedule At Wellsville

- 6-Tastee Freeze vs. Alex's Carry-Out.
- 6:45-Leon's All Stars vs. Francis P. White.
- 7:30 - Cindrich Const. Co. vs. Freed's.
- 8:15-Johnny's Lunch vs. Amo's Esso.
- 9-Dell's Bike vs. Bubber Moore.
- 9:45-Baron Cafe vs. winner Leon's-White's.
- 10:30-Winner Tastee Freeze-Alex's vs. winner Dell's Bike - Bubber Moore.

will advance into semi-final action Thursday.

The tourney concludes Saturday night with championship and consolation rounds. The Jaycees will award 57 trophies following the final battle.

Favorites to gain the semi-finals are four strong squads in Freed's of East Liverpool, Alex's Carry-Out of East Liverpool, Baron's Cafe of Steubenville and defending titleholder Johnny's Lunch.

The tournament continued Tuesday night as a strictly "no surprise" affair with favorites sweeping to victories.

Opening tonight's action will be Tastee Freeze, an underdog against Alex's Carry-Out, at 6. Leon's All-Stars of Wellsville High cagers, in the second game at 6:45. Cindrich Construction (Midland) opposes Freed's, led by Clarence (Bevo) Francis, in the third game at 7:30, and the reigning champion, Johnny's Lunch, takes on Amo's Esso in the fourth game at 8:15.

Dell's Bike and Hobby Shop of Salem clashes with Bubber Moore's of Pittsburgh at 9, big Jim Smith leads Baron's Cafe against the winner of Leon's-White's at 9:45 and the winner of the first game tonight vie with the winner of the Dell's-Bubber Moore game in the nightcap at 10:30.

Johnny's Lunch, rolling to the highest team score of the tournament thus far, smothered Dairy Queen, 64-22, to highlight Tuesday night's action. With top talent from the Kent State area in the lineup, Johnny's coasted to the victory as Gus Johnson, 6-6 pivot star from Akron, tossed in 16 points. Charlie Boykin, last year's high point award winner, scored six. Johnson was last year's most valuable player in leading Johnny's Lunch to the title.

Freed's trounced Theron's last night, 54-35, as Francis, Phil Chan and Ted Robinson collected 10 points each, while George Hale sparked the team with 15.

Baron's Cafe rolled over the Sons of Italy of Wellsville, 47-31, as Smith, a little All-America, scored 16 points, and John Blanda added 11. Nunzio Lombardozi paced SOI with nine points.

Amo's Esso and Francis P. White Insurance, also advanced with victories. The Esso entry whipped Gallagher's Market, 52-30, and White's clipped the Toronto Wildcats, 63-22, as Baldwin flipped in 22 points, and Rod Ferguson and Rick Gray 11 each.

Before losing to Baron's Cafe, SOI had defeated Wellsville Feed & Supply, 27-21, as Sid Winland, Gualtier and Lombardozi scored six points each. Gallagher's also beat Sharon, 56-25, before losing in the nightcap. Carl Anderson led Gallagher's in the first battle with 18 points.

SONS OF ITALY-27 Winland 3-0-6; Surace 2-1-5; Gualtier 3-0-8; Lucino 2-0-4; Lombardozi 3-0-6.

EDDIE MELVIN (center), head basketball coach at the University of Toledo, congratulates Kenny Cunningham (left) and Kenny Miller, East Liverpool's two leading scorers from last season, following Tuesday night's banquet honoring the 1960-61 Potter basketball team at the Westgate School cafeteria. Cunningham received the 16th Hi-Y Memorial award and also was presented a plaque by the Blue and White Nonpareil Club recognizing the Potter star as player of the year in Ohio. Miller copped the varsity foul shooting trophy also presented by the Nonpareil Club.

Banks Applies Extra Effort

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The exhibition game was over. The Chicago Cubs had won. But out came the batting cage and in stepped Ernie Banks who figured he needed a little extra work on his timing.

That extra work was typical of the dedication the Cubs star puts into the game he terms "the best ever invented."

Voted the most valuable player in the National League in both 1958 and 1959, Ernie has hit 231 homers in a career dating back to 1953, more than any other major league shortstop.

Last season he hit 41 homers, but his average fell off to .271, well below his lifetime mark of .292.

"I was swinging at some bad balls so this spring I'm concentrating at swinging at only strikes," he explained.

Ernie works as hard or harder than the rookies in this camp where the emphasis is on youth. "We've got good spirit and that means a lot to a ball club regardless of where it finished the previous year," he declares.

Chicago opened its Cactus League exhibition campaign by winning a majority of the games. Ernie believes that even this early, that will help the team.

"You've got to have that spirit at the start of a season and winning the exhibition games helps to get it," is his philosophy.

Lakers Eye West Division Title In Tilt With Hawks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Five months ago the experts said the Los Angeles Lakers didn't have a good big man at center and couldn't win the National Basketball Association title.

They haven't won it yet, but they need only one more victory over the St. Louis Hawks to clinch the Western Division title — and they still haven't come up with the big man at center.

The Hawks have been, considered extremely tough when the chips are down, but they are at a distinct disadvantage tonight. Their great center, Clyde Lovellette, is out of action with a severe back sprain. He was hurt in Monday night's game, won by the Lakers, who have a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The winner meets the Boston Celtics, who beat Syracuse, four games to one, in the playoff for the Eastern Division title.

Governor Takes Dim View

Should WVU Discontinue Games In New York City?

MORGANTOWN (AP)—Should West Virginia University continue playing basketball in Madison Square Garden, despite the latest gambling scandal involving the big New York City arena?

WVU Athletic Director Robert N. Red Brown said he could see "no good reason" why the Mountaineers shouldn't return to the garden. Athletes, Brown noted, could be approached with bribe offers anywhere.

But in Charleston, Gov. Barron took a dim view of WVU participation in Garden basketball. He added, "If there is any doubt at all that our boys are being exposed to gambling there, then I say we shouldn't play."

Brown said in an interview with Sports Editor Mickey Furfuri of the Morgantown Dominion - News that he didn't think the particular locale of the Garden was a factor in point - shaving incidents now under investigation.

He said that if those investigating allegations related to gambling have made any inquiries on the WVU campus, it's news to him. "They usually go first of all to the athletic director," Brown said, and then continued:

"I have no feelings about it one way or the other, but we have played 10 regular - season games and six NCAA tournament games there in the Garden since the 1951 scandal with no indication of any wrongdoing."

Barron took the view that "it's an unhealthy situation, we all know that. And since there is some doubt as to the benefits West Virginia gets from games there, I think we should weigh carefully every angle."

Brown also said he felt that each school ought to be responsible for the welfare of its own players from a security standpoint, and "I feel we do as good a job as we possibly can."

"We keep the boys together on trips, forbid telephone calls and take other precautions," Brown said. "Before the start of each season, we meet with them and explain all the possible dangers. We urge them to report immediately any attempts to bribe them."

Hull Will Be Major Stockholder Of Pipers

CLEVELAND (AP)—James R. (Jimmy) Hull, captain of Ohio State's basketball team in 1939, will become a major stockholder of the Cleveland Pipers in the new American Basketball League, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today.

Hull, now a prominent Columbus dentist, will become a director of the successful amateur Cleveland team which turned professional, the newspaper reported.

It is anticipated the team will play several games in Columbus.

Kenny Cunningham was bedecked with more honors Tuesday night, including East Liverpool's highest award for basketball — the Senior Hi-Y Memorial trophy — when the 1960-61 Potter basketball team was honored during a banquet at the Westgate School cafeteria.

One-hundred and fifty, varsity and reserve basketball players, cheerleaders and guests represented the largest turnout a basketball banquet has ever attained in East Liverpool.

The Hi-Y award, a plaque presented by Blue and White Nonpareil Club, and a proclamation from Mayor Bert H. Goodballet were the latest awards to be heaped on Cunningham, who was Ohio's player of the year in basketball for 1961.

A talk by Eddie Melvin, head basketball coach at the University of Toledo, presentation of a captain's trophy and two foul shooting awards also highlighted the program.

Cunningham, in accepting the Hi-Y award from Carl A. "Pop" Werner, secretary of the YMCA, became the 16th winner. He succeeds Bob Mackall, last year's recipient.

Cunningham was chosen from five seniors, who were eligible for the Hi-Y trophy, which is given in honor of the Potter athletes who died in the service of their country.

The Potters all-time cage star joins a formidable group of winners which include Jim Harris, Walt Ashbaugh, Jack Betts, Frank Chan, Jim Betts, Berry Berman, Paul James, Bob McCoy, Bob Bickle, George Parfitt, Don Rogers, Bernie Allen, Bill Smith and Bob Beatty.

Russ Hall, president of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, presented Cunningham with a large plaque for being named player of the year in Ohio.

Hall also read a proclamation from Mayor Goodballet, naming Cunningham East Liverpool's No. 1 citizen for his deeds on the basketball court.

Cunningham became the first player in the history of ELHS to be given such honors in Ohio and was the third basketball player ever to be named to the All-Ohio first teams by two news services, the Associated Press and the United Press International. He scored over 1,000 points in his three-year career performing for the Blue and White.

Ken Miller, the No. 2 scorer for the Potters during the past season, received a trophy from the Nonpareil Club as the top foul shooter on the varsity. He averaged 66 per cent for the season. Ron Jarvis received a similar award for the best accuracy on the reserve team. Jarvis averaged 70 per cent.

Mike Geon was presented a trophy for his leadership during the season in his role of team captain.

Melvin, in speaking to the young men and women, stressed the importance of studies in high school. "The one place athletes have let everyone down is in their studies. An athlete can prolong his career by having good grades," Melvin said.

The Toledo coach, who led the Rockets to a 15-8 record this past season, warned that "all colleges and universities have raised their academic standards and for proof look at the records in basketball and football. Those schools with the highest academic standards are at the bottom athletically."

"We don't prepare a boy for four years of basketball but we prepare

Awards to reserve cheerleaders went to Colleen Bucher, Diane Hall, Bertha Prodonovich, Juanita Adkins, Joan Leon, Sandra Cronin, Barbara Sneddon and Rosalyn Wells.

Dick Emmerling was master of ceremonies for Tuesday night's event and introduced members of the school board, including Sam Brown, Walter Ashbaugh and Leo Lawrence; George Hargraves, high school principal; Merrill Hall, athletic director, and Nate Lorah, faculty manager.

Dan Payne was chairman of the banquet committee which also included A. G. Weber, Judson English and Hall.

The Rev. John Mostoller of the First Christian Church gave the invocation and benediction.

Few Breaks, Some Luck Might Have Helped Kucks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Whatever went wrong with Johnny Kucks, who at 23 was an 18-game winner with the New York Yankees and clinched their 1956 World Series comeback?

Nothing went wrong, says the lean right-hander, but a few breaks, a little luck — and some better handling by ex-Kansas City manager Bob Elliott—would have helped.

"This isn't a rap on Elliott (since succeeded by Joe Gordon)," Kucks said today. "I'm not the kind of guy who does that. But how many innings did I pitch last year? It was 114, my lowest ever. Right from the start he slapped me in the bullpen and I don't know why. This club certainly didn't have that many starting pitchers. "I'd be in the bullpen and he'd call me in for a couple of innings and I get the hell hit out of me."

"He never talked to me about it. When he wanted to find out about me, he asked my roommate and he found out I wanted to start. It was almost mid-season."

Kucks, now 27, had a 4-10 record last season, with a 2-10 record as a starting pitcher. In the past two years, since the trade that sent him to the A's, he's won 12, lost 21. A hero of the '56 World Series against the Dodgers, when he won the final game with a three-hit shutout, he won only 16 and lost 19 for the Yankees after that.

"There's nothing wrong with my arm," Kucks said. "I just haven't had any luck. No breaks. That's not an alibi. I don't care what anybody says, you've got to be lucky."

"I've got to keep my stuff low. Sometimes the sinker, my fast ball, doesn't stay low. You fight it, laying it in there and you're in trouble."

Lopez Continues To Receive Better Performances From Pitching Staff

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox pitching staff, which cost the club the American League pennant last year according to Manager Al Lopez, is fast erasing the memory of the season's worst finish in 11 years as a major league skipper.

Southpaw Billy Pierce wiped out another hunk Tuesday in a 3-1 exhibition victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers as he limited the National Leagueers to two hits in a six-inning workout and became the fourth White Sox starter in succession to hurl low-hit ball.

Pierce's performance followed similar outings by Early Wynn, Frank Baumann and Herb Score — key members of the mound corps that also includes such proven holdovers as Bob Shaw, Turk Lown and Gerry Staley, along with newcomers Cal McLish and Juan Pizarro.

The pitching must do it for the 1959 pennant-winners, says Lopez, who blames last year's third-place finish on the staff. "We led the league in batting, fielding and stolen bases," says the senior. "So it must have been the pitching."

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have lost ace right-hander Larry Jackson for at least a month with a fractured jaw, got a boost when replacement Al Cicotte combined with Art Kay and Mickey McDermott to shut out Milwaukee 1-0 on four hits.

Pittsburgh right-hander Bob Friend also turned in an outstanding job as he went the distance, scattering eight hits in a 9-2 triumph over the New York Yankees and gaining a measure of revenge for the two losses he suffered in last year's World Series.

In other games, San Francisco edged Boston 2-1, Minnesota nipped Philadelphia 3-2, Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-7 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated Cincinnati 7-5 and Washington whipped the Red Sox 5-3. The Cleveland-Los Angeles Angels game was rained out.

Roy Sievers drove in two White Sox runs and that was all Pierce and reliever Russ Kemmerer needed to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. Jim Gilliam accounted for the Los Angeles run with a single in the seventh.

A single by Hal Smith, an error and Bill White's wind-blown double in the fifth brought across the game's only score as the Cards whipped the Braves with the unearned tally. Carl Willey and Don McMahon spun a six-hitter for Milwaukee.

Dick Stuart's homer with one aboard and Roberto Clemente's solo shot gave Friend the support he required while becoming the first Pirate pitcher to go the route. Roger Maris homered for the Yankees, mired in the exhibition cellar with a 6-13 record.

Home runs by Bob Schmidt and Felipe Alou backed Sam Jones' three-hit pitching in a seven-

Jofre Recognized As Bantam King

NEW YORK (AP)—Ring magazine today recognized Brazil's Eder Jofre as world bantamweight champion and dropped Sweden's Ingemar Johansson from second to fifth among the heavyweight contenders.

The undefeated Jofre also was named "boxer of the month" for his ninth round technical knockout of Italy's Piero Rollo in a title bout in Rio De Janeiro last Saturday night. The National Boxing Association had recognized Jofre as champion of the 118-pound class but Ring had rated the Brazilian and France's Alphonse Halimi as even and declared the title vacant.

The dispute arose when Mexico's Jose Becerra retired as champion and left the throne open. Johansson, knocked out in the sixth round by world champion Floyd Patterson, was demoted below Eddie Machen (No. 2), Portland, Ore., and Henry Cooper, (No. 4), the British and British Empire champion. Sonny Liston of Philadelphia still is the No. 1 contender.

3 Major Rule Changes Are Made In Basketball

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Three major rules changes have been made by the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada.

The committee Tuesday also directed officials to penalize coaches or players on the bench for heckling, stomping, throwing towels or committing other acts considered unsportsmanlike.

The major changes:

1—Eliminate free throws when a foul is called against an offensive player who has control of the ball. The defensive team will get the ball out of bounds.

2—Stop the clock after every violation. That will give coaches more chances to make substitutions.

3—Create a neutral zone along the free throw lane to separate the first and second players by 12 inches when lining up for free throws. The buffer zone is intended to lessen shoving and jockeying for position on rebounds.

The committee also decided to allow coaches to signal players for time out or to give other instructions.

At the center jump circle a jumper will have to have only one foot in or on the circle, instead of both feet as in the past.

The "sudden death" play-off in deadlocked high school games was eliminated. Now the teams will use as many three-minute overtimes sessions as needed to break a tie.

Umpire Ed Runge of the American League served with the Canadian Navy on North Atlantic convoy duty during World War II.

Every boy who tries out for Pony League baseball must fill out the application. The deadline for signing up is Thursday, April 7.

Crosley's Will To Keep NL Club In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Powel Crosley Jr. once vowed the Cincinnati Reds would never leave their birth place while he was alive, and wanted them to stay even after his death.

That's why he willed his controlling interest in the team to a foundation, according to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The newspaper in today's editions said the will makes it clear the team is to be kept in Cincinnati, and gives control of the foundation to members of Crosley's family plus one or two outsiders.

Crosley, a millionaire industrialist, died at his Cincinnati home early Tuesday after a heart attack.

The foundation won't be made known officially, of course, until his will is probated.

There were persistent rumors in recent years that the Reds might move to other cities offering alluring proposals to get a major league team. The rumors revived this year with New York holding a National League franchise, effective in 1962.

But Cincinnati and Hamilton County had agreed in 1958 to spend $2 million to improve parking around Crosley Field for an agreement by team officials to stay in Cincinnati at least five years.

In 1959 Crosley also said the club would be left to his daughter, Mrs. Page Crosley Kess, and his grandchildren.

A brother, Lewis Crosley, is vice president of the club and a grandson, also named Lewis, has been learning the ropes in the ticket and publicity departments.

Funeral services are planned at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in Cincinnati's Spring Grove Chapel.

Detroit Tops Leafs Again For 3-1 Lead

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Red Wings were only one game away from the final of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs today, while the defending champion Montreal Canadiens were all even in their semifinal with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Red Wings pulled into a 3-1 lead Tuesday night by blasing the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-1, in their semifinal in Detroit. Montreal, trailing 2-1 in games, cut down the Black Hawks, 5-2, in Chicago.

Detroit will try to sew up its spot in the final in the fifth game Saturday night in Toronto. The Canadiens — gunning for their sixth straight Stanley Cup — and the Black Hawks go at it again in Montreal, also on Saturday night.

Veteran Gordie Howe, who will celebrate his 33rd birthday Friday, spearheaded the Red Wings again — just as he did last Sunday — set up the tying goal and fired home the winner.

Jacob On Canton Seen Threat For Senior Golf Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Mallie Reynolds of Dallas and John Jacob of Canton, Ohio—two "youngsters" in the Ponce de Leon senior amateur golf tournament—meet in a quarterfinal match today that could produce the eventual champion.

Both are 56, just a year over the minimum for participation in the senior event, and both were two over par when they closed out opponents in second round matches Tuesday.

Reynolds defeated W. J. Kemble of Rockport, N.Y., 5 and 3. Jacob won over Leslie Taylor of Ruthersford, N.C., 4 and 3.

In other quarterfinal matches, Bruce Coffin of Marblehead, Mass. met Robert Bell of Worthington, Ohio; Walter Cope of Jacksonville, Fla., met J. B. Nail of Clearwater, Fla.; and George Treadwell of Memphis met C. J. Farley of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Lucas Heads U.S. Five To Soviet Union

NEW YORK (AP)—All-American Jerry Lucas of Ohio State heads a 12-man United States basketball team that will play eight games in the Soviet Union, the AAU announced Tuesday night.

The team will report here April 16 and leave by air for Moscow two days later. Two games are scheduled for Moscow, two for Kiev, two for Tbilisi and two for Leningrad.

The remainder of the squad includes Tom Meschery of St. Mary's (Calif.), Mike Moran, Les Lane, Jerry Shipp and Gary Thompson of Denver and Jim Francis of Akron.

At Columbus, Ohio, Lucas said he has withdrawn from the spring quarter at the university to make the trip, but he will attend summer school to maintain his eligibility for 1961-62, his senior year at Ohio State.

The best season every enjoyed by an American League pitcher was 1904 and the pitcher was Jack Chesbro of New York. Chesbro won 41 games.

Sanders, Palmer Tie In Seminole

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Doug Sanders had the strongest finish — a 6-under-par 66 — but he had to share top spot with Arnold Palmer in the 36-hole, $10,000 Seminole Golf Tournament.

Palmer matched Sanders' two-day total of 138 by shooting a 67 on the last 18 holes Tuesday. They each netted $900, but Palmer picked up $800 more as he and an amateur teammate edged out the pro-amateur field in a simultaneous tournament.

Tom Nieporte, first-day leader with a 69, dropped into a five-way deadlock for third place and $500 prize money.

Ohio boaters will do well to stay out of neighboring Pennsylvania unless they comply with Pennsylvania boating regulations.

Pennsylvania is one of 12 states that has not enacted a boat law in conformance with the Federal Boating Act. Neither will Pennsylvania licenses be recognized in Ohio waters until such time as they adopt a federally-approved numbering system.

Residents of West Virginia, our other neighboring state, have adopted the federal system. Therefore, they may place their boats on Ohio waters for a period as long as 90 days, providing they have complied with the federal regulations, since our laws provide reciprocity with states operating under federal laws.

William Lambright Sr. of East Palestine would like a gray fox pup to be kept as a pet.

William is unable to hunt any more because of his health and anyone capturing a young gray fox will do a good turn by presenting it to him. There are no laws on foxes so some of you younger sportsmen who want to do a good turn have an opportunity.

When I was a young man, a friend of mine had a greyhound which was raised along with a gray fox pup. The fox became as gentle as the dog and both got along well in the same back yard, enclosed with a 6-foot fence. Nerr Gantz, former police chief of Lisbon, has a red fox taken as a pup several years ago. He rides in the family car the same as a dog would.

I HAVE HAD numerous reports of hen pheasants being seen in spots at many places throughout the county, but no cocks.

The best way to find out if any cock birds exist is to listen early in the morning or late in the afternoon, and the chances are you will hear crowing cocks. You may think none exists because they are not seen. Keep in mind, however, the cocks have survived the past hunting season and instinctively seek cover. Later on in the spring and summer they will be seen in the open fields.

I stopped at an old farm and gathered a bag of dandelions, something I like very much. When I got home to clean them before cooking, I happened to notice I had much nicer ones growing in my own yard.

It soon will be time to start hunting spring mushrooms. Several mushroom hunters have told me that they look for a large elm tree that had died in the wooded section. This, they claim, is where you will find the most and the largest morels.

How do "bargain" brands stack-up to GOOD YEAR

There are so-called "bargain" tires. And "discount" tires. And tires sold by some "co-ops." And department stores. And other tires you've never even heard of.

They shout about price. But there's a big difference in what goes into them, compared to a Goodyear tire.

To prove it, we matched our $12.88 3-T Nylon All-Weather cord for cord with nine other tires in this general price class. We counted cords ... counted plies ... tested the strength of the tread rubber.

Compared to the Goodyear tire, there wasn't a really true bargain in the bunch. In overall strength, the Goodyear tire proved 25% greater than the average.

What makes the difference?

Better materials. Precision-building with electronic controls. And Turnpike-Proving. Yet there's little difference in price. No money down with your old tire ... as low as $1.25 a week.

Red Schoendienst Feels He Can Help Cardinals

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A fellow asked Red Schoendienst what he was trying to prove. "Is it the money?" the guy asked. "Is it your pride? You're 38. Only two years ago you were in a hospital battling tuberculosis. You haven't played 50 full games in the last two years. You've put 19 years in the game, 16 at top speed in the big leagues. Don't you think you've had it?"

If the freckle-faced veteran, once the finest second baseman in the game, was annoyed by these blunt, searching questions, he gave no sign.

"I feel I haven't had it," he said today. "I think I can still play ball. I may not be able to play every day and I'm not as fast as I used to be, but I know I can help the Cardinals."

I just want to play ball. I made a good living doing it and I'm going to continue doing it as long as I think I can and others think I can be of help."

Schoendienst, a top star with the Cardinals from 1945 to 1956 before he was traded to the Giants, was invited to spring training after he had drawn his release from Milwaukee at the end of the 1960 season. After three weeks, the Cards signed him to a $25,000 contract.

"It's not the money, believe me," said Red. "If that was it, I could have played with the new Los Angeles club for more money. Fred Haney (Angels' general manager) wanted me. Gene Autry (Los Angeles club owner) offered me $45,000. But I wanted to play in St. Louis, my first love and my home."

Ladutko Gets 2-40 Years In Wife Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP) — In sentencing John Max Ladutko Jr., 32, to prison for 2 to 40 years for killing his wife and another man, Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert made it clear he disagreed with the jury verdict.

"There was no justification for these homicides. They were deliberate and premeditated," the judge told Ladutko Tuesday. "Two young lives were taken for no reason. . . . It was cold blooded murder."

Ladutko had been charged with first-degree murder in the shotgun slayings Jan. 17 of his estranged wife, Nancy, 29, and attorney Charles D. Johnson, 42.

The jury of eight women and four men found him guilty of manslaughter on both counts. Judge Silbert ordered Ladutko to serve the two 1-to-20-year terms consecutively.

The prosecution accused Ladutko of planning the killings at his apartment. Ladutko, also an attorney, as was his wife, denied this. His attorneys said during the trial Ladutko fired the shotgun when he became "enraged and inflamed" on finding the couple in a compromising position on a sofa.

Stephen Parry, jury foreman, said the jurors felt the state did not disprove Ladutko's story.

Two letters—one written by Mrs. Ladutko to Johnson and the other from him to her—apparently were factors in the verdict. One of the letters, termed love letters by the defense, was found on the dead man and was bloodstained.

"The letters were the most important thing," one juror, Mrs. Christine B. Kozloski, told a newsman. "We read them over and over again."

Another juror, Howard J. Krause, said the letters "helped to make us believe that they (the victims) could have been in a compromising position."

Ruins Combed In Air Crash Fatal To 52

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Czech investigators arrived today to sift the wreckage of a four-engine Czech airliner that crashed and killed 52 persons Tuesday night. There were no survivors.

The plane was carrying Soviet, Czech and Bulgarian technicians to Africa, Karl Stekl, assistant Czech transport minister, reported on arrival. No Western passengers were aboard, he added.

The big four-engine turbo-prop Ilyushin 18 plunged into an open field Tuesday night near the village of Ruesselbach, 30 miles north of Nuernberg. Local police hinted at the possibility of sabotage. The airliner, bound for Bamako, capital of the West African Mali Republic, carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight. It had taken off from Prague with the first stop scheduled in Zurich.

The state-owned Czechoslovak airlines gave no information on the identity of the victims.

Recovered from the wreckage were a Soviet passport, several books in the Russian language and one handbook on bridge building. Police said they could not confirm reports the plane was carrying a load of Communist-bloc experts to Africa.

A police spokesman said he believed most of those aboard the plane were Czech nationals.

U.S. Army investigators helped German police in sifting the wreckage, littered over a wide area.

As dawn broke, rescue workers were still trying to recover bodies. Police said several children appeared to be among the first 25 recovered.

Some eyewitnesses said the plane exploded in the air. Others claimed the burning plane glided down as if attempting an emergency landing and the explosion occurred after the crash.

Group To Air Plans For Camp In Hancock

Final program arrangements for the summer Conservation Camp for Hancock County youngsters will be made at a committee meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Agricultural office in New Cumberland.

The annual camp is scheduled June 2-3 at Tomlinson Run State Park near Pughtown. The theme, "The Earth Is the Lord's," will be presented by George Sharpe, extension soil conservationist.

Gust Brenda Jr. is camp chairman, according to Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent.

Held For Grand Jury

WEIRTON — Rudolph Jones, 27, of Weirton was bound over to the April Grand Jury at a hearing today in Municipal Court. He is charged with the felonious assault of George Hopkins as the result of a stabbing during a fight Saturday night. He was released on $2,000 bond.

Group Visits Capital

LISBON — Nine Columbiana County young people were among 100 attending a tour of Columbus Tuesday, sponsored by the Farm Bureau Northeast Region. The group visited the capitol building and was addressed by Gov. Michael DiSalle.

Woman, behold thy son... ..behold thy mother.

Woman Believes Thailand Picture Shows Her Son

An East End woman watching the televised arrival of American troops in Thailand said she recognized her son whom she thought was serving on Okinawa.

"I'd know his face anywhere," Mrs. Cleve Stowers, 1650 Park Ave., declared in reporting she spotted her son, Sfc. Jack Stowers, arriving in the Far East country with special forces in connection with the Laos situation.

"He was driving a jeep, and while I only got a quick look at him, I'd know his face anywhere," Mrs. Stowers said. She saw the news program Monday morning.

Sfc. Stowers had been undergoing special guerrilla training in jungle warfare on Okinawa, with the 82nd Airborne Division. The 31-year-old paratrooper served in the Korean War and has been in the service since 1948.

His wife, Louise, and three children are residing on Okinawa. The American troops arrived in Thailand on Sunday. Sfc. Stowers attended East Liverpool High School before entering the Army.

Judge Dismisses Homicide Charge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Charges of negligent homicide against Braxton Lipscomb of Hurricane have been dismissed because his victim had homicidal and suicidal tendencies.

Lipscomb was charged in the death of Hilton D. Lawson of Warren, Ohio. Last Thursday, Lipscomb was driving on Kanawha Boulevard when his car struck Lawson.

Dr. W. G. Tobin of Warren, Ohio, read about the accident in a Warren newspaper and called Charleston police.

Patrolman Bob Sigmon told Municipal Traffic Court Judge Joseph Thomas Tuesday that Dr. Tobin, Lawson's personal physician, said "Lawson had attempted suicide several times and was a definite mental patient."

Dr. Tobin said he thought it would be unjust to charge a motorist in the death because he was certain from the man's past history that he jumped in front of the car intentionally.

Judge Thomas dismissed the charges.

Parents Discuss Formal For Choir

Final plans were completed for the choir formal scheduled April 14 when the ELHS Choir Parents met Tuesday night in the choir rooms of the Memorial Auditorium.

Reports were heard from the chairmen on the sale of basketball programs during the past season. Harold Sneddon, president, conducted business.

E. King Mathews reported on future activities of the choir. The spring festival will be held April 21 in Westgate Junior High School auditorium.

Fund-raising projects were discussed. The president said he will name a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the next meeting to be elected for the 1961-62 term.

Wellsville Kaycees Name Delegate Group

Delegates and alternates to the state convention May 28-29 at Cincinnati were elected at a meeting of Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council 509 Tuesday night.

John Kozora, grand knight, and Anthony Cataldo were named delegates and Fred Baldassare and Nick Zelasko alternates.

John Trainer, council activities chairman, announced open house will be held April 15 for the newly-remodeled home.

Easter Assembly Set For Palestine School

The Rev. William Buell of the Salineville Methodist Church will speak at an Easter assembly at Salineville High School Thursday afternoon, sponsored by the Freshman Class.

A history of Easter will be given by Ruth Gearin, Sharon Kellison will read the Bible, Kenneth Dunlap will lead the flag salute, Titi Tennola will lead "The Lord's Prayer," and Agnes Jones, president, will be in charge.

Behold Thy Son... His Last Words

(At first glance, Christ's words from the Cross to the two persons He loved most appear personal, almost private. But there is a deeper meaning in them. A prominent Presbyterian churchman, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, finds a lesson for each of us today in this third of five articles on Christ's last message. Dr. Blake is Stated Clerk (the highest post) of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.)

By DR. E. C. BLAKE
Written For Associated Press
"Woman, behold thy son . . . behold thy mother."

Unlike the other words which fell from the lips of Jesus in those last hours of his earthly life, this one—directed to his beloved mother and his equally beloved disciples—appears, at first glance, to have no deep religious or theological implications.

It has to do only with the future care of his mother and his friend, which, although important enough in itself, seems to be almost an aside and quite apart from the profound insights of the other utterances from the cross.

AND YET, we make a grave mistake if we question too seriously the appropriateness of this apparently private and personal word uttered amid those other words of universal import.

For, certainly, a prime insight of the Christian gospel is this: The relationship beings is always of universal significance. And, further, it is demonstrated here at the cross, and in a new way, that the only right relationship with all men is the family relationship at its highest and best.

Recall the event. Three men are being executed. One of them is Jesus of Nazareth. A group of people is watching; some gloating, others—a lesser number—mourning.

Among the mourners, at a little distance from the foot of the cross, Jesus sees standing together the two whom he loves most intimately in all the world: A woman and a man, his mother and his most beloved disciple, John.

We need not harrow our hearts by entering too deeply with our imagination into the feeling that must have been torturing these three.

No loving mother needs to be told what Mary must have felt as she watched her son in the agony of crucifixion.

NO FAITHFUL student who has ever had a teacher who became as well his close friend, needs to use much imagination to know what John was feeling as he looked at Jesus on the cross.

No loyal son needs to be told what Jesus' feelings must have been as that extra bitterness was added to his woe; that of seeing his mother's and his friend's grief and suffering for him.

But, Jesus was not one to dwell on the sadness of the present moment. He looked instead to the future, and he knew that both these whom he loved would be lonely and lost without him.

So he told them in a few words as possible—for the effort to speak at all must have been great—"My mother and my friend, you will need each other as the days go by. Mother, you will find a son in him. Friend, you find in mine a second mother."

It is true, of course, that Jesus felt his love and duty to God were first. That is the essence of religion. But those who know Jesus can understand that the lesson he taught from the cross was that religion, with all of its call for commitment and obedience to God, does not give excuse for callous treatment of one's loved ones.

This word, spoken in the agony of death, is final proof—if such is needed—that he who so loved all men as to die for them was not forgetful of his special love and responsibility for his stricken mother and his distraught friend. This is as it should be with us.

One half of the essence of Christianity is love and concern for one another. And where can any of us better begin than within the circle of our families? If love is not shown within that narrow circle, can we ever hope to find it spreading further?

To all of us, Jesus speaks from the cross: Love those near you, do out your duty.

For through such love alone, God stooping shows sufficient of his light for us in the dark to rise by.

(Tomorrow: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?")

Finch, Mistress In Jail Awaiting Life-Death Phase

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carole Tregoff cries in her cell and, in another part of the jail, her lover sleeps fitfully—a blanket pulled up over his head.

Neither Dr. R. Bernard Finch or Miss Tregoff, his co-defendant, is very hungry. Neither wants to be interviewed.

Both have missed several meals as they wait tensely for the final, life-or-death phase of their murder trial.

The couple, convicted of slaying the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, return to court Monday when—after another round of arguments by counsel—the murder trial jury will be asked to decide the penalties.

Under the verdict returned by the jury of 10 men and 2 women, Dr. Finch faces a possible death penalty on two counts—first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Two previous trials ended in jury deadlocks.

Miss Tregoff, convicted of second-degree murder, is subject to capital punishment on the conspiracy count of which she was also convicted. Second-degree murder carries a penalty of five years to life.

McMaster Re-Elected By Area Potato Group

LISBON — John McMaster of Columbiana R. D. 1, president, and other officers of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Potato Growers Association were re-elected at a meeting of the board Tuesday at Columbiana.

Other officers are Robert Reash of East Palestine R. D. vice chairman, and Anthony Andrich of Columbiana R.D., secretary-treasurer.

The annual twilight meeting was slated for July 25 with the site to be picked later. The next meeting is June 29.

Revenues Are Up For Monongahela

Despite slumping economic conditions in the latter part of 1960, the Monongahela Power Co. was able to show a 2.5 per cent gain in total electric revenue and in consolidated net income, its annual report shows. The utility serves Hancock County.

Total revenue of $39,750,000 resulted in gains in all categories of customers served — industrial, commercial and residential.

At the same time, the average rate paid by residential customers reached a new low mark of 2.82 cents per kilowatt hour. The company's residential customers — 195,561 at year's end — produced $14,606,399 of the company's total revenue.

Taxes were a major operating expense. Monongahela paid a total of $9 million in federal, state and local taxes — nearly 23 per cent of its total operating revenues.

Don Potter, president of the utility, in his annual letter to stockholders, a part of the report, expressed confidence that 1961 will see accelerated industrial development throughout the company's service area.

The summary of new industrial activity in the company's service area includes the Air Products, Inc., which is scheduled to go into production this month with a high purity oxygen plant serving the Weirton Steel Co.

27 Attend Seminar Of Mental Health Unit

Some 27 attended the mental health seminar for industrialists which began Monday at Beaver, sponsored by the Beaver County Mental Health Society.

Dr. David Spence, psychiatrist and medical director of the county's Mental Hygiene Clinic, was leader. The subject of the first program was "Conceptual Framework for Viewing Our Fellowmen and Ourselves."

Dance Set April 8 By Kaycee Group

Plans were discussed for a post-Lenten dance April 8 at a meeting of the Carroll Council 509, Knights in the K. of C. Hall.

Thomas Geon will be in charge of the event for members, wives and friends of Kaycees.

During business, conducted by Kevin O'Brien, grand knight, members planned to go to City Hospital this afternoon about 4 to refill the blood bank for Mrs. Jack Maley, wife of a member.

Discussed were fund-raising projects, including a rummage sale in the near future.

The third degree program, which was held last week at the East Palestine council's hall, was discussed by the new members. Sixteen local members received the degree.

Fr. Anthony Esposito, assistant pastor of St. Aloysius Church, and chaplain of the council, was present.

The men will play a basketball game with the Columbian Squires Monday at 7 p. m. at the St. Aloysius gymnasium.

Man Due Trial Flees From Court

Probably suspecting a jail term was waiting for him, a 60-year-old man to whom sale of liquor has been banned by local edict walked out of Municipal Court this morning rather than face Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on an intoxication charge.

The vanished prisoner is William Gorby of W. 6th St., who was taken into custody by police shortly after midnight. The only prisoner in the morning police lineup, Gorby was left alone in the courtroom. He vanished in a five-minute interval between his arrival from jail and the time for court to convene.

Gorby is one of eight men whom the judge defined as chronic drinkers about a month ago. Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, acting under city ordinance, then issued a list of the men's names to taverns and other dispensers of alcohol with orders not to sell them drinks in the future.

Gorby was facing an intoxication charge under state law, which allows the court to sentence him to County Jail.

Wellsville PTA Plans Election

A nominating committee to present a slate of officers was named at a meeting of the Wellsville Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association Monday night.

Named were James Ferry, chairman, Mrs. Mary Carraher, Mrs. Jean Kelly, Mrs. Dorothy Bunfill and Mrs. Charles Glass.

The election and installation will be held at the next meeting April 24.

Mrs. Mildred Elliott conducted devotions on an Easter theme. The group endorsed a proposal by Judge Louis Tobin for a juvenile work camp.

Mrs. Ethel Clark, representative to the Columbiana County PTA Council, reported it will hold a round and square dance April 15 at Westgate School. Proceeds will be used for the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Helen Welch, school librarian, conducted a tour of the high school library. She reviewed the history of the library and told of the future needs.

Maryland Man Admits Stealing Car At Lisbon

LISBON — Illinois police today notified the sheriff's department a former Maryland resident has admitted the theft of the auto owned by Edward Heim of Lisbon, which was taken Saturday from W. Lincoln Way.

Police at Alton, Ill., said Leroy D. Hiles, formerly of Baltimore, has confessed stealing Heim's 1959 convertible Saturday morning while Heim was in a nearby store.

Officers said Hiles will be prosecuted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for transporting a stolen car between states.

America Has Diana All Wrong, She Says

During the next six weeks, we are going to see more and more of Diana Dors.

The Brassy, British Blonde was on Garry Moore's show Tuesday night and is scheduled for a coming Perry Como show. Jack Benny and Red Skelton will use her for bouncing off a few rounds of jokes.

Hal Humphrey

"I just finished shooting a Hitchcock show, too," bubbles Diana, "and it will be my acting debut on American TV. I believe it is on the air April 25. I play a magician's wife who falls in love with a trapeze artist. It's a sordid circus story."

Diana has decided that her American career may be finally under way. She doesn't count her first trip here five years ago to make a movie with George Gobel. Nothing went right for her.

"THE FACT I'm a blonde was the most terrible thing about it. Everyone here simply decided I was incapable of doing anything except pushing my measurements in front of the camera. It was no good saying to people that I was not another Marilyn Monroe."

"Of course, worst of all was that party, which was written up in your press as a drunken orgy. It was frightening."

Diana refers to the party she tossed for her hairdresser.

"Just everybody" was there, including the late Mike Todd, Eddie Fisher, Debbie Reynolds, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Guy Madison. Diana, her late husband, agent Louis Schurr and Howard Shoup were pushed into the swimming pool by an enterprising press photographer.

The resulting publicity, according to Diana, ruined the image she was hoping to create of herself in Hollywood.

SINCE THEN Diana has hopped back and forth between Hollywood and London, married again and had a son.

"Did you know I have a long-play record out and have written my memoirs? The title is the same on both—'Swinging Dors'—which I thought was rather jazzy. I did the recording and the memoirs while I was pregnant."

"News of the World," a big-circulation Sunday newspaper in England, bought Diana's life story for serialization and paid 37,000 pounds to her.

"I was appalled at the way they rewrote it and chopped it all up," she says, "but then I said to myself, 'Oh, well, what the devil, it's more money than they paid Anthony Eden for his war memoirs and only 2,000 pounds less than they paid Errol Flynn.'"

DIANA REFUSES to let an American publisher have her memoirs until they have been rewritten by someone who can give them the proper understanding. She would like to interest Gerold Frank in the project, the fellow who did Zsa Zsa Gabor's life story.

One might get the impression Diana is all times and toppers, but beneath this gay exterior she harbors a shrewd business sense and apparently considerable acting talent.

Several of her British films are making the TV rounds in this country. One of these, "A Kid for Two Farthings," was chosen to represent Britain at the Cannes Film Festival, and Diana does a first-rate job in it.

She would like to forget the two pictures she made in Hollywood, because "they were appalling."

"I'VE LEARNED that both Jane Wyman and Shelley Winters started as blondes in Hollywood and after awhile got to do quite nicely with their careers. I hope this can happen to me."

Diana has no intention of throwing any more parties—at least, not with photographers invited. She and her husband, Richard Dawson (a British music hall performer), and 1-year-old son are living the ordinary ostentatious life in Beverly Hills.

With all of the TV work heading her way now, Diana plans to be a more or less permanent resident. If things go right, she even might be ready soon to write a whole new set of memoirs.

"That's an idea," says Diana. "I could title the new book 'Revolving Dors' to make it a logical sequel."

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A round-up of all dogs without licenses will begin Saturday April 1, Clermont County officials said.

Flood Waters Reach Record High In Iowa

By The Associated Press

Cold air today spread into the flood-stricken region of northeast Iowa where several thousand persons were made temporarily homeless by the surging Cedar River.

The rampaging river threatened further overflows in Waterloo, the region's industrial center with a population of nearly 80,000, as it reached an all-time flood stage.

Flood waters gushed through an emergency dike Tuesday night in Evansdale, a suburb of Waterloo, inundating a third of the community of 3,561 population. Water poured into an estimated 500 homes from which residents had been evacuated and measured six feet deep in houses near the swollen river.

Volunteers stood watch on another sandbag dike which had been built around the Evansdale business district, which is located on higher ground. Officials reported a house in the flooded district blew up and said the blast probably was caused by escaping gas.

The Cedar was expected to crest in Waterloo at about 22 feet today. It already has reached a stage of 21.75 feet compared to a previous high of 20.45 feet in 1959.

The nearly 1,000 persons forced from their homes in Evansdale were given temporary shelter in three churches and a YMCA building.

Floods in Wisconsin eased as the Kickapoo River in the southwestern part of the state receded and the job of cleaning up became the main project. Hardest hit areas were Vernon and Crawford counties.

The American Red Cross in Washington reported that flooding rivers have forced nearly 1,100 families from their homes in Iowa, Wisconsin and Louisiana. Spring floods also have been reported in parts of Missouri, Minnesota, Kansas and Alabama.

It was generally cold in northern areas from New England through the Ohio Valley into the southern Rockies. Snow fell from eastern North Dakota eastward through the northern Great Lakes region. More than nine inches of snow fell in Denver from Monday through Tuesday night. The fall in northeast Colorado-southwest Wyoming ranged from 5 to 14 inches. Temperatures were in the 20s and 30s in the north central region from the Rockies eastward through the lower Great Lakes.

U.S. Town Meet Seen Like Soviet Farm Gathering

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP)—An American town meeting, a Soviet collective farm gathering—pretty much the same thing, says newsman Vladimir Ozerov of Moscow.

Ozerov, who represents the Soviet news agency Tass in New York, was one of 15 foreign newsmen who sat in on the North Kingstown town meeting Tuesday night.

"Everyone having a voice—that's the way it is with the collective farm," he said. "Every collective farm has its own budget, an estimate of what will be the harvest, what the farmers will get in wheat, money, it is all discussed at a general meeting."

"Decisions are then made by a popular vote, just as here."

About 500 taxpayers jammed into the junior high school and approved a budget at a three-hour meeting spiced with some hot discussions and a few laughs.

A Czech and a Pole compared notes and decided it was much the same in their countries.

The newsmen, members of the Foreign Press Association, attended the meeting under the sponsorship of the World Affairs Council and the Providence Journal-Bulletin.

Youth, 2 Girls Treated After District Mishaps

A youth injured while wrestling and two girls hurt in separate mishaps were treated at City Hospital Tuesday.

David McIntosh, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McIntosh, 634 River St., received a possible fracture of the right hand while wrestling with another boy.

Susan Nusser, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nusser, 1019 Ohio Ave., suffered a laceration of the left thumb on broken glass.

Kim Koerber, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Koerber of Boyd St., was treated for a laceration of the right eyebrow received in a fall.

Son Of Famed Major League Pitcher Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter P. Johnson Jr., 45, son of baseball's famed pitcher, the late Walter (Big Train) Johnson, died Tuesday.

The younger Johnson was an automobile salesman until Hodgkin's disease forced his retirement two years ago.

He once tried out as a pitcher for the old Philadelphia Athletics and played for Des Moines, Iowa, in the minors.

Physician To Speak

Public Meeting Awaited For Discussion Of Cancer

The current status of cancer therapy will be discussed by Dr. David Kinsey of Columbus, former city resident, at a public meeting to be held at Westgate School auditorium Friday night at 7:30.

The program is being sponsored by the Columbiana County Unit of the American Cancer Society headed by Mrs. Edna Jones of East Liverpool, president.

Dr. Kinsey will speak on "Chemotherapy and Other Advances in Cancer."

He will review recent discoveries in causative factors of the disease, and what the future may hold for the treatment.

A 1947 graduate of East Liverpool High School, Dr. Kinsey was graduated in 1955 from the Ohio State University College of Medicine and served his internship and residency in surgery at the Ohio State Health Center.

From 1957 to 1959 he was senior assistant surgeon at the National Cancer Institute under the direction of the U.S. Public Health Service, and is at present a senior resident in surgery. Last year he was awarded a post doctoral fellowship by the USPHS for cancer research. Anyone interested may attend.

Jobless Claims Drop

In 2 Ohio Counties

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—For the second straight week new claims for unemployment compensation declined in Lake and Geauga counties last week, Richard T. Nemecek, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office here, reports.

Nemecek attributed the drop to a pickup in construction and agriculture. Some factories also have been stepping up production, he said.

Art Expert Claimed

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Prof. Giovanni Poggi, 82, Italian art expert who found the Mona Lisa after the painting was stolen a half-century ago, died Tuesday. He was director of museums and monuments in Florence in recent years.

Lisbon Group Plans Dinner

The Past Templars Club of Lisbon met Monday night with Mrs. Hazel Eells of Prospect St. and planned a coverdish dinner April 24. Mrs. Margaret Farmer was co-hostess.

Prizes at games went to Miss Bertha Webber and Mrs. Leona McDevitt. Lunch followed.

The coverdish dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Brice Barton of Prospect St.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cullison of W. Washington St. had as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cross and family, Larry, Timothy and Dixie and Miss Sue Brown of Salem. The affair honored the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Cross.

Weekend guests in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Keirns of Cream Ridge Rd. were

Electricians Return

After One-Day Strike

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Electricians of the Carlson Electric Co. went back to work Tuesday at the Republic Steel Corp. plant here after a one-day strike.

The 400 electricians, working on Republic's 55 million hot strip mill, reportedly struck when several of them were fired for using Republic's employee restaurant contrary to instructions. Officials declined to say what caused the walkout.

Trucking Firm Official Talks At Rotary On Carriers' Role

The importance of the common carriers in the nation's economy was underscored by Alvin T. Babb when the Rotary Club met Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

"If the common carriers were to stop in America for a couple of days, everything would almost come to a standstill," the vice president - secretary of YELP Service, Inc., trucking firm, told the club.

He discussed "Freight Classification and Rate Making" in a talk to fellow members.

Babb explained YELP's rates are listed in the National Motor Freight Classification, a thick, 525-page volume of uniform rules and regulations of the trucking industry. "There are few articles in the country that are not named in the book. The guide is revamped completely once each year," he said.

Another common carrier - railroads - have their rates listed in a separate guide. Babb pointed out the rate is determined by the value of a commodity and how it is packed for shipment between two points.

The first attempt at rating was made in 1813. Portsmouth & Roanoke Railroad also attempted a rate guide for the railroads in 1836. All railroads came under one classification in 1918, and the first rail classification was issued in 1919. There have been 22 new guides published since.

The motor carrier rates were not organized until 1935, Babb explained. They were made uniform in 1937 with respect to geographical directions.

Babb explained that YELP is located in the Central Territory in relation to the tariff bureau in Chicago. Each territory, determines class rates and commodity rates.

Approximately 700 are members of the Chicago Tariff Bureau. If an agency wishes to raise its rates, the proposal is considered by the bureau's Board of Directors, approved or disapproved by other member agencies, published, then presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval or rejection.

Babb emphasized that the ICC does not set the rates. Once the ICC receives the proposed rate increase, the public is given 20 days in which to protest. The proposal becomes effective in 30 days once given approval by the ICC.

Babb also commented on the improved educational courses being offered by colleges and universities in traffic control and management. "There are lots of opportunities in traffic management, such as rate clerks, billing clerks, managers, and other jobs," Babb said.

A question-and-answer period followed. He was introduced by George Hargraves, president.

Beaver Boosters Back Proposed Wark Camp

The Beaver Local Boosters Club Tuesday night endorsed a proposed juvenile work camp for delinquent youths.

Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin discussed the project, which is designed to rehabilitate youths whose offenses are not serious enough to warrant commitment to state institutions.

About 20 attended the meeting at which Mrs. Dorothy Smith reported plans are progressing for a public smorgasbord to be sponsored April 15 at the high school.

Mrs. Mildred Emmerling led prayer. Foy Wright, president, was in charge. Next meeting is April 11.

Webelos Badge Given Cub Scout

The Webelos badge - the highest award in cubbing - was presented John Chan at a meeting of Cub Pack 60 Tuesday night at St. Ann Catholic Church.

Jim Arcuragi, cubmaster, and Herb Purton, pack chairman, made the presentation. Awards also were given Andy Hughes, two-year pin and two-year perfect attendance pin; Craig Means, bear badge and gold arrow; Frank Galeoti, silver arrow under bear, Herb Purton, lion badge.

Each den displayed trains on the theme "Cub Scout Railroads." The boys also showed Easter hats they made.

recent Boy Scout Institute at the University of Akron.

Den 2 presented a skit. Mrs. Kathryn Wyand and Mrs. Ramsey sang a song. Movies of the Blue and Gold dinner, taken by Clarence Ammon, were screened.

A candlelight ceremony was used for the closing. Participating were Chan, Hughes, Purton, Bob Hocking, Craig Yanni, Jonathan Ramsey and Jim Hocking.

Fr. Lambert Andrews was a guest.

Claimed In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) - Clarence E. Pitkin, 67, long time druggist of Whitehall, Mich., and founder of the West Michigan Tourist Association, died Monday. Pitkin, also prominent in yachting circles, was known in Whitehall as "Mr. Whitehall."

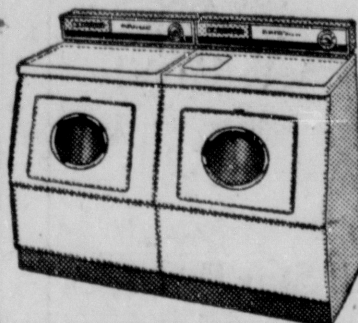

Groundhog young are born in late April or early May, four or five to a litter. By August the babies are able to set up dens of their own.
